HIGH TARIFF BARS.

Prohibitive Import Duties Demoralizing French Trade.

RETALIATORY MEASURES THREATENED BY OTHER COUNTRIES.

Prices to Consumers Advanced—Traffic Disorganized—Summary Dismissal of a Corrupt Official by the Czar—British Socialists on Trial—Contradictory Reports From the Famine Districts.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—The new tariff has caused a general disorganization of business connected with the import trade. The authorities are overwhelmed with protests from people who claim that their goods ought to have been admitted under the old rate. In some cases these claims depend upon the question of whether the arrival of a vessel could be entered before it was actually in port.

At the land frontiers also there has been great trouble and confusion. The Germans who send sheep to the Paris market have cut down the usual number to one-half, owing to the customs tariff, and this has caused an advance in prices. There is a disposition on the part of many tradesmen to advance prices on goods not affected by the tariff, partly out of a desire to make money and partly to make the tariff unpopular. This course is strongly condemned by public opinion and an effort may be made to reach the offenders by legislation.

An interview was had yesterday with Dr. Lardy, Swiss Minister to France, relative to the new French tariff. Dr. Lardy declared that his Government would have the greatest difficulty in preventing Parliament inaugurating a tariff war with France. It was certain, he said, that Switzerland would have to take defensive measures against France's commercial policy.

The Marquis de Carbonara, the Italian Ambassador, and Baron Beyens, the Belgian Minister, were both seen on the same subject and each declared that in view of the new French tariffs his Government would take measures to protect its commerce.

Mr. Crowe, the commercial attache of the British Legation, being questioned on the subject, expressed his belief that English factors were equal to the emergency and could produce goods capable of meeting the requirements of the new tariff.

THE CZAR TAKES A HAND.

A CORRUPT BUREAU OFFICIAL DISMISSED IN DISGRACE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—A. T. Hubbeneck, Privy Councillor and Minister of Ways and Communications, has been dismissed from his place in the Cabinet by the peremptory dictation of the Czar. It appears that Col. Wenderich, engaged under imperial direction in the inspection of Russian railways, found himself thwarted in his efforts to make a genuine inspection, and that the adverse influences came direct from the Ministry of Ways. Councillor of State Witte, director of the Department of Railways, showed a sincere desire to sustain Col. Wenderich, but was himself obstructed by his superior, Minister Hubbeneck, who seemed desirous of shielding the corrupt and inefficient management of the railway lines. Witte sent his resignation to the Czar. The latter had Witte summoned before him and asked him the ground for his resignation. Witte thereupon told how he had been hampered and the work of inspection obstructed by Minister Hubbeneck. The Czar closely questioned Witte as to the facts and circumstances and caused documentary and other evidence to be sent for and submitted. Two hours later came the order dismissing Hubbeneck in disgrace. The Czar sent for Col. Wenderich and said: "Do not mind how disagreeable they make it for you. I am with you. Turn your back on them and go ahead thoroughly with your work."

The radical action of the Czar has caused dismay in corrupt official circles.

BRITISH SOCIALISTS.

TRIAL OF THE WALSALL DYNAMITERS NOW IN PROGRESS.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The six men arrested for engaging in a dynamite plot in connection with the Socialist Club at Walsall were brought before the Mayor's Court to-day for trial. A mass of evidence has been presented in the preliminary proceedings sufficient to form a strong case for the Government and the Mayor expressed the desire to proceed with the trial at once and sit daily until it was concluded. Counsel for the prisoners demurred in vain to this course and the trial is proceeding.

Sir Charles Russell, in the Court of Queen's Bench this morning, moved that an order be granted to remove the Chelsea Socialist cases from the County Court to the High Court of Justice and that they be tried before a special jury.

STILL ABOVE WATER.

HOPES ENTERTAINED OF SAVING THE STRANDED EIDER.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The life-boats used in the rescue of the wrecked Eider's crew had to be lowered 200 feet from the cliffs where they were drawn up on the previous night in consequence of the gale. There were several narrow escapes among the crew.

Capt. Heinecke still holds to the belief that the steamship can be saved, but his opinion in this matter is not shared by the experts who have examined the steamer. The agents of the North German Lloyd Co. are even more hopeful than Capt. Heinecke. They declare the position of the Eider is not hopeless and that there is a probability that the wrecking steamers will be able to get her off after she has been lightened and the holes in her bottom are temporarily stopped by the divers who are to be put to work for that purpose. Powerful steam pumps will then be set to work and the agents believe that the steamship will be buoyant enough to enable her to be towed into Southampton.

The work of landing the mails was continued during the morning and one hundred and fifty bags of mail matter had been safely landed.

At 2 o'clock this morning the North German Lloyd steamer Havel, from New York, arrived at Southampton and took on board all the passengers from the Eider who were desirous of proceeding to Bremen.

The landing of the Eider's mails will not, it is expected, be completed until late this evening.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

CONTRADICTORY REPORTS FROM THE FAMINE DISTRICTS—BRIEFS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—The thermometer registers from 30 to 40 degrees of cold in the famine-stricken districts of Russia. This terribly severe weather adds intensely to the suffering of the impoverished people who are already greatly weakened by starvation and disease.

The Mayor of Moscow, who recently went on a tour through the famine-stricken regions of the empire, in behalf of the Czar, with the Central Famine Committee, has returned here. He reports that, judging from as far as his investigations went and what he saw in Saraniff, Orenburg, Samara and Ufa, accounts of the famine are much exaggerated. He says business is brisk in the regions he visited. He adds that there is plenty of grain in the hands of speculators, but that its distribution is difficult, owing to the bad condition of the roads. He reports that snow is preserving winter-sown corn. He will soon start on another tour to last three months.

RECIPROCITY FAVORED.

TORONTO, Ontario, Feb. 3.—At the annual meeting of the Central Farmers' Institute of Ontario yesterday speeches were made by Hon. Messrs. Dryden, Harvey and Harcourt, Provincial Ministers, and by President Narway, M. P., who talked strongly in favor of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, criticising at some length the recent address of President M. Naught of the Manufacturers' Association favoring the effort to develop Canadian trade with the countries of Europe. He held it far more important to develop trade with the United States.

FAVORS FLASH LIGHTS.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Prof. Tyndall writes to the press proposing the use of sudden, powerful flash-lights, or gun cotton explosions as more likely to be effectual in warning vessels off the coast during a fog, than a steady glare, or continuous blasts on a fog-horn. He suggests the periodical dropping of an opaque screen over the St. Catherine's electric light.

CASUALTIES.

One Man Killed and Three Injured in a Railroad Wreck.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 3.—Advices received here state that the train on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad which left here last night, and which was made up entirely of United States Express cars, was derailed at North Baltimore, O., at 1:30 this morning, and the engineer, James Manuel of Garrett, Ind., killed. The fireman, John Hampton, also of Garrett, and W. D. Callahan and L. Gray, express messengers, were slightly injured. The engine was turned over on its side and one car was damaged, the loss being light.

The limited express train of three cars, carrying no passengers, was ditched by a broken switch rod, while running at the rate of fifty-five miles an hour. The locomotive and tender were crushed into scrap-iron, the cars telescoped, and valuable express matter was scattered promiscuously around. The body of Engineer Jas. Manuel, of Garrett, Ind., was jammed three feet into the earth beneath the fire box and was removed at 9 o'clock. His back was broken and neck nearly severed. Fireman Hampton of Garret was wedged in by the tender and was fatally scalded. As the whole thing occurred in a second neither could save himself by jumping. Express Messengers W. D. Callaghan and L. Gray of Chicago were in the forward car and miraculously escaped with a few bruises. Conductor Lewis and a brakeman were the rest of the crew, and were imprisoned in a car for a time, but were uninjured.

A part of the express matter included $8,000 worth of silver bullion consigned to the Philadelphia mint. The switch bar had held together by a mere thread and was evidently broken by a preceding train. The dead and injured were taken to Garrett.

BURNED IN A BEER VAT.

PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 3.—A serious accident occurred at the Union Brewery last night. John Rush and Anton Riber, two of the employes, went into the big puncheon for the purpose of varnishing it with shellac. They were still at work when the vapor of the shellac, passing out of the small hole, caught fire. The inside of the puncheon was soon in a fierce blaze and the two men were penned up in the flames. Other workmen dragged them out, lacerating their flesh and breaking their bones in so doing. Rush, who was dragged out first, may live, but his companion was burned so badly that his flesh dropped off when rescued.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION.

JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 3.—A horrible accident occurred at Zarley's, one mile south of the city, at 7:30 last evening. The boiler of engine No. 47 on the Chicago & Alton road, pulling a heavy freight south with a pusher from this city helping over the hill, blew up just as the engine reached the top of the hill. The boiler exploded, throwing the engine and three cars off the track. The dead are Brandon Thomas and C. F. Hartings. The only survivor was Dubois Williams, engineer. Owing to the feeble condition of the only survivor on the engine, Williams, no definite idea can be had as to what caused the accident.

DISASTERS AT SEA.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The steamer Runic from Liverpool reports seeing the Norwegian ship Florida abandoned at sea, with her rudder lashed down and main top-sails set. There was no indication of damage serious enough to explain the abandonment of the Florida.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The ship reported ashore at Broadhaven is the River Nith from Portland, Ore., for Sligo. She is entirely covered at high water.

FATAL POWDER EXPLOSION.

BUDAPESTH, Feb. 3.—A serious accident has happened in the town of Pressburg, the former capital of Hungary, thirty-four miles from Vienna. The drying room of a building in which the new smokeless powder was being manufactured caught fire and an explosion quickly followed. Three workmen who were engaged in preparing the powder were fatally injured, and the factory was badly wrecked.

BURNED TO DEATH.

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 3.—Mrs. Mary Craigen, mother-in-law of Capt. Delaney, Chief Inspector of Customs, was burned to death on Monday by her dress catching on fire from a match which had become lighted and fell on the floor while she was taking some matches from her little grandson, who was playing with them. Mrs. Delaney was severely burned in trying to save her mother.

FOUND DEAD.

FULTON, Mo., Feb. 3.—Scott Moore, aged 27, son of Buck Moore, one of the best known young men in Southern Callaway, started out quail-hunting on Monday morning and was found by his mother at noon a short distance from the house dead with a gunshot wound in the head.

DIED FROM EXPOSURE.

LEBANON, Ill., Feb. 3.—Hanke Harms, a farmer, living in this vicinity for forty years, fell into Little Silver Creek on his way home on Monday night while under the influence of liquor, and died from the effects of the exposure.

TWO FAMILIES FROZEN.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 3.—Two families, Watkins and McGuffy, who started to Oklahoma from Cedar Glades, were frozen to death in the recent blizzard. Their bodies were found on the prairie near the Arkansas line.

In Danger of Indictment.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 3.—There was a report this forenoon that the Federal Grand-jury had indicted the officers of the Whisky Trust, but as the Federal Grand-jury has not reported any indictments as yet, the report was discredited. It is believed, however, that an indictment will be returned, if one has not already been found by the Grand-jury which is now in session.

HELD FOR A RANSOM

Bold Kidnappers Spirit Away Little Ward Waterbury.

THE MARAUDERS GET FRIGHTENED AND RELEASE THEIR PRISONER.

Happily Rescued and Returned to His Parents—Brigandage in Connecticut—Mutinous Boston Convicts—A Tennessee Feud Inaugurated—Moonshiners Arrested—Criminal News.

POUNDRIDGE, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Eight-year-old Ward Waterbury, who was kidnapped from the vicinity of the school house near Longridge, Conn., Monday afternoon, and for whom his parents and the entire neighborhood have been searching far and near ever since, was brought home at 3 o'clock this morning by John Close of Stanwich, Conn. Mr. Waterbury was home, having but just returned from his trip to Miller's bridge, where he had been summoned by the letter signed "River Boys," making an appointment there with him. He had gone alone to the spot in accordance with the demands of the letter writers. After remaing there until after 1:30 this morning he came to the conclusion that the kidnappers had been frightened away and did not come. Then he drove homeward.

The father and mother were endeavoring to console each other in their misery early this morning when the door-bell rang and John Close entered with the missing boy. As Mr. Waterbury opened the door in answer to the ring, Ward sprang into his father's arms and then into his mother's, who had followed her husband to the door. There was a very affecting scene.

THE RESCUERS.

John Close was warmly thanked by Mr. and Mrs. Waterbury for bringing Ward back. When the excitement had become somewhat subdued, Mr. Close told how he had come to get Ward. Mr. Close is a clam-digger and is a man in humble circumstances. He lives at Stanwich, Conn., convenient to his clam-beds. At 2 o'clock this morning there was loud knocking at his front door. The knocking continued and finally aroused him. He opened the door and saw a little boy standing outside. "I am Ward Waterbury," said the boy, and I want to go home." Mr. Close asked Ward to come in and he did so. He then told Mr. Close his story. He said a man had brought him to the house on his back, and had told him to go and knock on Mr. Close's door. Then the man ran away. Mr. Close had heard of the abduction of Ward Waterbury and he decided to take Ward to his parents immediately. So he hitched up his horse and at once drove to Mr. Waterbury's house at Longridge, arriving there at 3 o'clock.

WARD'S STORY.

After the boy had been hugged and kissed until everybody was tired out, he told his story. He said two plainly dressed men had stopped him near the school-house, told him he was a fine boy and asked him to show them a certain place in the vicinity, which he did. They then praised him again and said that if he would go a little further with them they would treat him handsomely for his pains. He kept on with them until he was too tired to walk. Then he wanted to go home but the men roughly refused to let him go. After he had fallen exhausted one of the men put him on his back.

While thus being carried Ward fell asleep in the darkness. He woke in a small and poorly furnished house and was fed and put to bed. The next morning, Tuesday, he found the doors and windows barred. He was a prisoner, but was well fed and treated. The men told him that as soon as his father sent them some money they would let him go. Tuesday night he was again put to bed and went to sleep, but was awakened in the night and taken through woods and fields. The two men took turns in carrying him. Finally one of the men disappeared. The other man dropped him in Mr. Close's yard and said he would wait while Ward knocked at the door, but while the boy was knocking the man ran away.

THEORIES.

The boy cannot give a very good description of the kidnappers, but said he would know them if he should see them again. They seemed much disappointed when no one came to the house where they had taken Ward. He was asked if he had seen his cousin Charles Waterbury. He said he had not seen Charles Waterbury, the man who handed the letter to his father demanding ransom. A common theory is that the kidnappers were employed by Charles, who told them to let the boy go when he saw that he could not get money out of the father without being discovered.

MUTINOUS PRISONERS.

THEY OVERPOWER THEIR GUARDS AND SEIZE A STEAMER.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 3.—It is reported that a riot of great proportions is in progress at Deer Island and that the city's steamer, the Putnam Bradley, has been seized by the prisoners to prevent its being used as a means of access to the city. Sixty officers from Station 2 and fifty officers from Station 8 are at the island. It is said that the first squad from Station 2 was unable to cope with the prisoners and that assistance was telephoned for. A rumor that the Bradley is now on its way to the city crowded with prisoners is discredited at police headquarters, where it is the general opinion that the rumors are much exaggerated. The riot is said to be the outcome of the recent dissatisfaction among the prisoners. A detail of men from the various stations was immediately sent down on the police boat.

Soon after 10 o'clock the trouble appeared to be practically at an end. In his telephone message the captain intimated that quiet had been so far restored that he will probably soon send about twenty-five officers back to the city, the remainder being kept at their stand for awhile in case of emergency.

INAUGURATING A FEUD.

TWO FAMILIES INVOLVED IN A QUARREL OVER LAND.

MILAN, Tenn., Feb. 3.—The Cedar Grove community, twenty miles from here, is being terrorized by two families fighting over land.

A feud has long existed between the Parteets and Landons. In a difficulty Jno. Parteet shot and killed Frank Landon. Sheriff Fussett and two deputies were sent to arrest the murderer. In the difficulty which ensued Fussett was killed and Thos. Parteet fatally wounded, dying soon after. Caleb Parteet, father of the boys, gave a deed of trust of his land to an attorney to defend the boys. The lawyer allowed him to use the land until his death, a short time since. The lawyer attempted to take possession, when the remaining son, Henry, barricaded the house and guards the property day and night.

MAIL WAGON ROBBED.

POUCHES PURLOINED WHILE BEING TAKEN TO A RAILWAY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—When mail wagon No. 86, J. J. O'Keefe, driver, which left the Post-office at 7 o'clock last evening with the mail for Hoboken, N. J., arrived at Hoboken it was found to be empty. Word was at once sent to the Department and a messenger was dispatched to the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Depot to see if the missing pouch had by mistake been placed in wagon No. 85, which had the mail for the 7:45 p. m. train. When Driver Walker of that wagon examined the pouches in his wagon he found six of the ones he had started with gone, and did not find the other one, supposed by error to have been placed in his wagon. He had started with ten pouches. The missing ones were for Buffalo, Emporium, Mt. Morris, Elmira, Waverly, Scranton and Buffalo, N. Y., and Scranton, Pa. The catches on the back of both wagons were found open and the locks gone. They had, it is supposed, been opened on the ferryboat Orange while crossing the river.

Post-office Inspectors Hartshorn, Morris and Schopf were sent out to make an investigation, but up to the present time have discovered nothing beyond the facts stated above.

GREEN GOODS MEN.

FAIRBURY, Ill., Feb. 3.—The green goods men are at present getting in their work in this section of the State. Their circulars have been received by many within the past few days. They always inclose the circulars of explanation, which in all cases are unsigned. Then they have the address on a single slip of paper, and also an apparent newspaper clipping accompanies them. The newspaper clippings are printed as though they had been cut out of New York dailies, the most of these showing headlines of the Sun and Times, and all of them are mailed in the New York Post-office. There have been received two sets, one giving the address of George Briggs, 266 West One Hundred and Fifteenth street, New York, and of J. Schmultz, 181 Mott street, New York.

TRYING EMBEZZLERS.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 3.—The embezzlement cases of the Allegheney officials were begun in the Criminal Court this morning, with David H. Hastings, Market Clerk, on trial. The trial of Mayor Wyman for embezzlement and extortion will be taken up as soon as Hastings' trial is over and ex-Mayor Pearson's case will follow Wyman's. The case is exciting great interest and the court room was crowded all day. Judge Porter is on the bench.

Their names are Lewis Danby, Tom Jones and William Ewing.

SUICIDES.

Bank Watchman McCauley Shoots Himself in the Head.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 3.—Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning Watchman McCauley, at the Continental National Bank, committed suicide in the bank by shooting. McCauley was seen by the officer on the beat at 2:50 o'clock. He was then walking up and down and nothing unusual about his demeanor was noticeable. At 3 o'clock he should have turned in an alarm, and it was his failure to do so that apprised the authorities that something was wrong. A messenger was sent to the bank and McCauley was found lying on the floor in a pool of blood, dead. Mr. McCauley was about 60 years of age and exceedingly feeble. He leaves a wife and family. He was a brother of Rev. James A. McCauley, ex-President of Dickinson College, the famous Methodist divinity school at Carlisle, Pa.

OPTION DEALINGS.

Testimony Before the Committee on Agriculture.

PRODUCERS AT THE MERCY OF GRAIN SPECULATORS.

Millions of Bushels Sold That Do Not Exist—Telling Points Gathered From a Farmer—Congressional Proceedings—Chinese Exclusion Bill Reported—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—The House Committee on Agriculture this morning heard arguments on the bill introduced by Mr. Hatch of Missouri, defining options and futures and imposing special taxes thereon. C. Woods Davis, a farmer, representing the Board of Trade of Wichita, Kan., said that since 1880, the prices in farm products had been low, and the prices in wheat had continued to shrink. He said that the depression caused him to look into transportation rates and he had found them to be in favor of the American farmer. He thought that the tariff enhanced the value of farm products, but he had found in the last ten years a system of board of trade selling of fictitious products. The system of short selling has become a growing disturbing factor and he had been told by a Chicago banker that there was more money tied up in margin sales than could pay for moving the entire crops. He thought that there was too much pork barrelled for speculation which got old and as a consequence sold cheap and the only people who could eat it were the negroes on the cotton plantations. The wheat sold on the Board of Trade of New York in one year equalled the production of the world and there were 28 boards of trade. The prices were not fixed in Liverpool, but were made in Chicago by three or four men.

At this point he requested the clerk to read a telegram which he had received. It was as follows: "Pardridge is bigger than the market and sold freely." He said that man dominated the market. On Saturday last he sold 4,000,000 bushels privileges and no one has been able to fix the prices in Chicago.

The witness continued to quote letters showing that Pardridge controlled the Chicago market. It was fictitious offerings and not the farmer that fixes the prices. He thought it possible to put a stop to dealings in futures and thought the Butterworth bill and the bills of Messrs. Brissius, Washburn and Hatch would be effective. He stated that the men opposed to this bill get enormous commissions for selling.

Mr. Aldrich of the Chicago Board of Trade asked that he be given an opportunity in a few days to make an address in behalf of the association he represented, which was readily granted, and he filed some papers among which was a memorial against the Butterworth bill. The committee then adjourned until to-morrow.

CONGRESSIONAL.

AMERICAN PARTICIPATION INVITED IN A GERMAN EXPOSITION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—Mr. Sherman, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, presented an invitation from the German Government asking the participation of the United States in the International Art Exhibition, to be held in Munich from June 1 to Oct. 1, 1892. Accompanying the invitation was a letter from the State Department in which, "in view of the number of American students of art who have received instructions at Munich and of the general interest felt in this country in the success of the proposed exhibition," the Secretary recommended an appropriation of $5,000 to enable the department of state to organize a commission to secure a creditable representation of American art at the exhibition. On this recommendation Secretary Blaine asked prompt action, as the exhibition was to open June 1, next, and he suggested that the prompt acceptance of the invitation would tend to insure a liberal response from Germany to send her great works of art to the Chicago exhibition. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Dolph, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported adversely a number of new Chinese immigration restriction and prohibitory bills, and, as a substitute therefor, reported Senate bill 540, continuing all existing laws prohibiting and restricting Chinese immigration for a period of ten years.. Calendar.

Mr. Kyle, (South Dakota) according to notice, called up his joint resolution offering an amendment to the Constitution of the United States making uniform the laws in regard to marriage and divorce, and read a prepared speech upon this subject.

THE HOUSE.

The consideration of the report of the Committee on Rules was resumed, the pending amendment being one offered by Mr. Boatner of Louisiana, striking out all that part of the rules as giving permission to attach riders to appropriation bills when in the interest of retrenchment in expenditures. In support of his position Mr. Boatner said he did not think the increased expenditures were due to the increase in clerks in the departments, but to the large expenditures for pensions, public buildings and other national improvements. The Senate was co-equal with the House and both legislated for the interests of the country.

Mr. Bowers (California) said the people in the West wanted Congress to give them back the money they had paid for public lands in excess of $1.25 per acre on the promise of building railroads. The Democrats were all right in their hearts, but were often wrong in their heads. The Democratic party could not win with the hands they held; they would have to draw and fill before they could accomplish what they wanted. He would advise the Democrats to give the country a good, liberal slice of the public money. They could not get a Democrat in the White House on a chariot of reform with 5-cent nickle pieces for wheels.

A CAR DYNAMITED.

Non-Union Street Railway Employes Badly Shaken Up.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 3.—Wood's Run car No. 1 of the Manchester line, having on board thirteen of the new employes of the company, was wrecked on Beaver avenue at 4:30 this morning by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge, which had been placed on the track. The explosion occurred as the car was passing the Manchester locomotive works, and though the concussion was so severe that the car was thrown from the tracks and badly wrecked, and the windows shattered in all the houses on the side of the street nearest the track over which the car was running, strange as it may seem, not one person was hurt.

The car is known as an all-night car, and had picked up the employes on their way to work. When the car reached the locomotive works it was running at full speed and the men were talking and laughing. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion and the car was lifted bodily from the track. It was badly wrecked and all the windows were broken. Several of the men were cut by the flying glass, but no one was seriously hurt. Many persons were thrown from their beds by the force of the disaster.

One of the striking conductors who was seen by a reporter said that he had heard two of the striking conductors threaten that they would put dynamite upon the track. He said he saw the same two men on Beaver avenue this morning and near the scene of the explosion. He also said that some days ago two of the so-called "sympathizers" asked him to take a hand in a plot to "do up" President Dalzell and General Manager Greenwood of the company. He told the men that he would have nothing to do with such a scheme, and at once reported what had been said to him to Mr. Dalzell.

A great crowd soon collected at the scene of the explosion, and the sentiment seemed to be that the men who had committed the deed had waited until the car was well loaded with the hated "scabs" and then "fired the mine" with the intent of killing several of the new men.

The strikers and their friends have been quiet for several days, and it was thought they had abandoned the fight, and that all trouble was over.

NEARING A CRISIS.

Revolutionary Feeling Growing in Mexico—On the Rio Grande.

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 3.—Advices received from Puebla (La Puebla de la Angeles), capital of the State of Puebla, seventy-six miles southeast of the City of Mexico, say that a financial and commercial crisis prevails there and many of the business houses have closed their doors. In addition much dissatisfaction is expressed with the local and Federal authorities. The Clerical party, which is in a large majority in Puebla, are still sore over the late attempt to drive the monks from their cloisters, and it is said that if the Bishop had not advocated prudence the people would have risen en masse and overpowered the troops and the authorities. It is an undeniable fact that if ever a revolution starts in Puebla the people will join it.

It is a known fact that many foreign enterprises are at a standstill and not a few foreigners are trying to sell out and leave the country, fearing for their safety as well as their property. The attempts that are made to deny that Mexico is in bad straits are made by people who are not trying so much to defend the country as to protect the value of their investments.

There is no revolution yet, nor is it believed in Puebla that Garza is the man to head one, but no frontier news is published in the Puebla newspapers, their owners not daring to antagonize the government.

A SCOUT ASSASSINATED.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 3.—Rufus Glover, formerly Clerk of Duval County, was shot and killed in an ambuscade of United States scouts by the revolutionists near Sol Edada ranch, Duval County. Gen. D. S. Stanley issued orders yesterday for the other troops along the lower part of the Rio Grande to concentrate at the scene of the recent conflict. Capt. W. B. Wheeler, in temporary command at Fort Ringgold, yesterday sent a dispatch to Gen. Stanley to the effect that he sent what news he had of the late outbreak to Capt. F. H. Hardie, because his own two troops were away from the fort. A dispatch from Maj. Louis T. Morris, in command at Fort McIntosh, written on the wagon in which was Glover's dead body, said that it was a case of foul murder. The revolutionists fled at the return fire of the scouts and left a pile of cartridges behind the rocks. Gen. Stanley said he had an exact list of the Garza men around Palato Blanco, and that they are a body of cut-throats.

Jose Valencio, a prominent citizen of Mier, Mexico, and formerly a citizen of Rio Grande City, Tex., wrote a letter to a newspaper here, in which he makes sensational charges against the United States troops. He alleges that scouting parties approach ranches in a threatening manner, frighten the women and children and open trunks. He states that they arrest men merely because they have been followers of Catarino Garza. He claims that the American troops allow armed spies to cross from the Mexican side. He says that the troops arrested Ignacio Rannerez, owner of the Granger ranch, merely because he would not take pay from Garza's men for some cattle which they took. He states that Col. Nevis Hernandez was not commander of the garrison at Mier when Garza attempted to take it; instead Gen. Lorenzo Garcia was and still is commander of the military district. He says Col. Hernandez labored under great disadvantages in his pursuit of Garza, and the hostility toward him was due to reprimands which he administered to military officers in other military zones.

REVOLUTIONISTS ARRESTED.

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 3.—Romego Salz, Jesus Stellas and Pedro Mendoza are under arrest at Las Cruces, N. M., charged with participation in the recent killing in Ascension, Mexico. The Mexican Government wants them badly and will apply for extradition papers. Salz says that he is an American citizen and denies that he took any part in the killing.

OFFICIALS CRITICISED.

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 3.—There is some indignation expressed here at the course of the army officers for publishing reports of scouts and giving their names. It was this indiscretion it is claimed that led up to the shooting of Rufus Glover in Duval County by the alleged followers of Garza. Lieut. Knight with a detachment arrived a day or two ago from Zopota County but brought no news of interest regarding Garza.

COLLAPSED COTTON BROKERS.

Heavy Attachments on Their Holdings in Arkansas.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 3.—Rumors were current yesterday that Walter R. Jones and Richard J. Jones, comprising the firm of Jones Bros. & Co., cotton buyers at 11 Monroe street, were in trouble. The rumors in circulation were to the effect that Jones Bros. & Co. had failed, owing large amounts to banks, cotton factors and individuals. Investigation, so far as the banks of Memphis are concerned, did not reveal any losses. Some ten days ago Mr. Walter R. Jones executed a deed of trust on his residence and other property owned by him to secure one bank here for $18,000, and the value of the property guarantees the bank from any loss.

Among the creditors of Jones Bros. & Co. are Hirsch Bros., cotton factors, 316 Front street. Mr. Jake Hirsch, a member of the firm, was seen at his residence. He stated to the reporter that on last Saturday his firm had attached some 400 bales of cotton belonging to Jones Bros. & Co., at Newport, Ark. They had also attached their one-half interest in the compress at that point. This attachment was resorted to to secure a debt of about $4,000 which was due Hirsch Bros. for money advanced on shipments of 1,500 bales of cotton and which, when sold, failed to realize by the amount named the sums that had been advanced.

RECOMMEND A COMPROMISE.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 3.—The committee of creditors appointed to investigate the affairs of the Massachusetts Rubber Co. of Reading and its manager, C. W. Harts, who owns most of the stock, reports unsecured liabilities of $44,000 and recommends the acceptance of an offer of 20 per cent on the corporate indebtedness and 10 per cent on individual indebtedness. This will probably be accepted by the creditors.

CONFESSED JUDGMENT.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Feb. 3.—James Smiries, proprietor of the New York Store, has confessed judgment in Chicago in favor of Bradner & Thomas of New York City. The amount of the latter's claim is $19,700, while other claims will make the liabilities equal the assets, which are placed at $37,000.

WILS HOWARD'S TRIAL.

Granted a Continuance Until the May Term of Court.

LEBANON, Mo., Feb. 3.—The trial of Wils Howard, the notorious desperado, for the murder of the deaf mute, McMichaels, in Maries County, brought here on a change of venue, has been continued until the regular May term of the Circuit Court. Yesterday afternoon the defendant filed affidavit for continuance, alleging that he had been unable to get his witnesses. The State filed counter affidavits, but when court convened this morning Judge Wallace granted a continuance.

Howard has for some time been confined in the St. Louis Jail for safe-keeping, and it is expected that he will be returned there.

IN WORDS OF PRAISE

An Englishman's View of Mr. Harrison's Warlike Chilian Message.

EDITOR HATTON SAYS BLAINE AND THE PRESIDENT ARE OUT.

That Little Dinner at the House of Senator Hale—Capt. Schley Speaks for the Sailors of the Baltimore—Fires in Santiago Involving a Loss of $2,000,000—Naval Court of Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—Prof. Goldwin Smith made a few remarks at a dinner last night to Capt. Schley of the Baltimore. He said he gladly took advantage of the courteous invitation of his host to express his regret as an Englishman at the repeated utterances of a portion of the British press respecting the Chilian affair. He said he hoped the worst had come to us and best stayed behind.

Speaking of the criticism on the President's message on the Chilian question, Mr. Smith said that to him the message was entirely temperate, dignified and logically conclusive. Nobody, he was sure, who was on the spot could have reasonably found a fault with the spirit and bearing of the American people during the dispute with Chili. There was no violence, no aggressiveness, no appearance of a propensity to display superior power by trampling on the weaker nation. No desire had been shown but that of upholding international law, to vindicate which was the duty of the American people, not only to themselves, but to the whole community of nations. The weakness of an offending power may be a reason, Mr. Smith said, for long suffering and forbearance on the part of the strong, but it cannot be deemed an unlimited license to break the law, otherwise the world would be at the mercy of weak powers. "Did England hesitate the other day to enforce the law against Portugal?" he asked. "No needless humiliation has been inflicted on Chili; nothing has been exacted from her but that recognition of public right which not alone the will of the American people, but the law of nations required."

Capt. Schley also spoke briefly. He said the cruiser Baltimore had always stood as a representative of the great power under whose flag it sailed. He referred to the efficiency of the crew of the vessel and said that if circumstances during the late Chilian affair had required it, he thought the members of the crew would have acted in such a manner as to merit the approval of the Government. The cloud of war had now blown over, the Captain said, but the affair had proved very suggestive of the fact that war is liable to come upon the nation at any time. He hoped it would serve as a warning to the people, and demonstrate that it is time to consider means how best to protect the country and its flag.

BLAINE AND HARRISON.

THE STORY OF A QUIET DINNER AT THE HOUSE OF SENATOR HALE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—The Post, which is regarded as good authority in matters pertaining to eminent Republicans, being edited by ex-Postmaster-General Hatton of Iowa, prints the following:

"A few weeks ago Senator Hale gave one of his artistic little dinners at his magnificent residence on the corner of Sixteenth and K streets. Among those present were Secretary Blaine, Senators Cameron and Allison, Marquis Imperiali, the Italian Charge d'Affaires, and Mavroyeni Bey, the Turkish Minister. There may have been others. After dinner, and while the gentlemen were enjoying their chasse and their cigars, the conversation turned upon the Chilian affair. As the discussion deepened Mr. Blaine became acutely excited, and at last he broke out in a violent denunciation of the idea that Chili should be dealt with harshly. He declared that, although "the Valparaiso incident" was nothing more than a drunken squabble in a disreputable slum, signifying nothing, the Chilian Government had already apologized for it ten times more than ours had done for the brutal and barbarous massacre of Italian citizens in New Orleans. At this Marquis Imperiali is said to have bowed in his best style and complimented the great Secretary on his magnanimity and statesmanship.

"Mr. Blaine then went on to characterize in the severest terms the disposition to exact further concessions from Chili—this at a time when the President was notoriously resolved to do that very thing—and wound up by declaring in the most emphatic manner that if the administration should adopt such a policy as that, he repudiated it, and wanted to be so understood. This speech ended in a complete and almost tragic silence."

It is said that Senator Hale denies the whole story, and that Editor Hatton declares that it is true in every detail.

ALEX. HUNT ON TRIAL.

Charged With the Robbery of Capt. D. F. Slattery of St. Louis.

LEBANON, Mo., Feb. 3.—Alexander Hunt, who is charged with robbing Capt. D. F. Slattery of St. Louis, and whose case came to this county on a change of venue, was arraigned yesterday morning and a plea of not guilty was entered by the defendant. Attachments were issued for two or three St. Louis witnesses, who failed to answer when their names were called.

The work of securing a jury was completed before the adjournment of court yesterday evening and the testimony of the St. Louis physician who attended Capt. Slattery was given before the State made its opening statements in order that the physician might return to St. Louis last night. This morning has been taken up by the opening statement of the State. The taking of testimony will commence late this afternoon.

This robbery occurred over two years ago in the rear of a grocery and saloon conducted by William Klosterman on Jefferson and Cass avenue. Capt. Slattery was set upon by Hunt and two other men and beaten into a state of insensibility. When he recovered consciousness it was discovered that his diamond ring and pin valued in the neighborhood of [illegible] were missing. Hunt and his companions were arrested for assault and robbery and all were discharged excepting the principal. He was indicted and took a change of venue. Capt. Slattery was so badly beaten that it was nearly three months before he was fully out of danger.

THE SILVER ISSUE.

Mint Director Leech Before the House Coinage Committee.

NO LACK OF CIRCULATING MEDIUM IN THIS COUNTRY.

New York Banks Hold $35,000,000 of Idle Money—The Issuance of Certificates No Obstacle to Free Coinage—Democrats Triumph at Duluth—Third Party People.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—The House Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures to-day examined Director Leech of the Mint Bureau on matters relating to the silver question. Mr. Stone of Pennsylvania, began the examination. In answer to Mr. Stone, Director Leech said his minimum estimate of the production of silver in the United States during the last year was 58,000,000 ounces. The official estimates would probably exceed that amount.

Mr. Stone of Pennsylvania: "If we deduct the amount used in the arts and sciences the American product would be less than the Government purchases."

Mr. Leech replied in the affirmative. The amount of currency in circulation in the United State, he said, was $24.50 per capita. This was larger than in any country except France.

Mr. Stone: "Is there, in your judgment, any lack of a circulating medium in this country?"

Mr. Leech: "No, sir. The New York banks hold about $35,000,000 of idle money over and above their reserves."

Mr. Leech, having answered in the negative a question of Mr. Stone as to whether any European paper money was based on silver, Mr. Bland inquired if he held that there was no country in Europe where paper money was based on silver.

Mr. Leech's response was that there was no country in Europe where the paper money was redeemable solely in silver. Mr. Bland read from Secretary Windom's report stating that the Bank of France had issued many millions of notes based on gold and silver deposits and also where other countries had out similar notes. Mr. Leech insisted that his answer had been with reference to silver notes alone.

Mr. Williams of Illinois called attention to the fact that Mr. Leech had said there was no country except the United States where notes were based on silver, and asked if the European countries and the United States were not on the same basis in this respect.

Mr. Leech admitted that this was so and said that here, as in Europe, the notes were based on both gold and silver.

Mr. Williams asked if he regarded the issuance of silver certificates to circulate instead of the silver dollars as any obstacle to free coinage.

Mr. Leech replied in the negative and said he thought notes preferable. The issuance of gold notes was open to the same objection, but not to the same extent as in the case of silver notes, as they could be circulated easier.

DULUTH DEMOCRATIC.

YESTERDAY'S ELECTION FOR MAYOR—THIRD PARTY PEOPLE.

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 3.—Duluth has gone Democratic. Charles d'Autrement, a young Democratic attorney, was elected yesterday over A. J. Davis, who tried to succeed himself on the People's ticket; Charles A. Long, who run on the Republican ticket, and Joseph Mannheim, Independent. The vote was D'Autrement, 2,558; Davis, 2,096; Long, 716; Mannheim, 62. Total vote for Mayor was 5,432. The defeat of the Republican candidate was due to the factional feeling among Republicans who refused to support Long and went over to D'Autrement. The Council stands eight Republicans and four Democrats.

THIRD PARTY PEOPLE.

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 3.—The first third party demonstration was held here yesterday under the auspices of C. C. Post, the campaign leader of the party. He says that the party intends to cut off all relationship with the two leading political parties. There will be a full State ticket, with C. H. Ellington for Governor. There will also be an electoral ticket in the State next November. L. L. Polk and Leland Stanford are looked upon as the probable candidates for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency.

Clara Morris as "Camille."

On Monday night Clara Morris depicted the emotional progress of a woman from the bright illusion of an illicit romance to the mad-house with a vivid realism, and last night the descent to the grave by way of a broken heart was as graphically delineated.

No woman so defies the conventionalities of art and yet gets such brilliant results as Miss Morris, and results are the highest tests of artistic power. Perhaps her unconventionality aids her in securing the uncanny effects of which she is capable, certain it is that she can give the impression of the inexpressable in humor or grief with a force which impresses it irresistibly upon her audience.

Another splendid audience witnessed her "Camille" last evening and gave it enthusiastic approval. "Odette" is the bill for to-night. The sale is very large for the whole week.

TESTING THE WILL.

Trial of the Suit for Henry G. Soulard's Estate.

A CASE IN WHICH NUMEROUS ST. LOUISANS ARE INTERESTED.

Four Grandchildren Endeavoring to Have the Will Set Aside—The Domestic Troubles of James and Frances McGuire—Several Rulings on Railway Condemnation Proceedings.

The suit to contest the will of the late Henry G. Soulard was called in Judge Valliant's court this morning and a special jury ordered to try the case. Mr. Soulard died Feb. 16, 1891, leaving an estate valued at $500,000. His will was admitted to probate Feb. 20, 1891, Joseph Soulard Lamotte qualifying as executor without bond. In his will Mr. Soulard left about one-fourth of his estate to Joseph Soulard Lamotte and his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson Lamotte Cates, the grandchildren of a sister of Mr. Soulard's wife. The remainder of the estate was left to Mr. Soulard's heirs at law, who were the descendants of his two deceased brothers, Gaston Soulard and Benjamin A. Soulard. It was provided in the will that a life interest in the portion left to his brothers' heirs was vested in his brothers' children, the property to go to their children at their death. The contest is brought by three daughters of Gaston Soulard and the son of another daughter. They are Mrs. Eliza Octavia Jennings, Mrs. Harriet Webb, Mrs. Maria Therese McCloskey and Benjamin Kimball, son of Mrs. Julia Antoinette Kimball, the deceased daughter. The descendants of the contestants are included among the plaintiffs and the heirs of Benjamin A. Soulard are included as defendants. The full style of the case is: Eliza Octavia Jennings, Harriet M. Webb, Maria Therese McCloskey, wife of Henry McCloskey; Eliza McC. Rowley and Lewis R. Rowley, her husband; Susan McC. Christie and George R. Christie, her husband; Caroline McRaymond and H. S. Raymond, her husband; Blanche McC. Meyer and R. S. Meyer, her husband; Harriet B. McCloskey, James G. McCloskey, Charles C. McCloskey, Benjamin Soulard McCloskey, Henry G. McCloskey, Lewis McCloskey, Harriet Webb, Eliza Webb, Isabel Webb, Henry W. Turner, Benjamin Turner, Mary French, and Thomas French, her husband, Benjamin Kimball, Frank L. Kimball, Virginia K. Mason and Kearney Mason, her husband; Francesco B. Douglas, her husband, and Florence G. Kimball against Joseph Soulard Lamotte, Elizabeth Patterson, Lamotte Cates and Mullanphy Cates, her husband; John M. Harney, Sarah Adele Holcomb and Edward V. Halcomb, her husband; Adele E. Kilpatrick and Andrew E. Kilpatrick, her husband; Edward Holcomb, William Holcomb, Catherine Isabelle Corwith, James G. Kimball, Mary Hanly, wife of John M. Hanly; Eliza M. Bogy and Joseph Bogy, her husband; Adele Kimball, John Hanly Kimball, a minor; Benjamin L. Kimball, a minor; Mary J. Kimball, a minor; Gaston A. Kimball, a minor; Amelia Antoinette Winter and Ruffin L. Winter, her husband; Blanche Soulard Turner and John W. Turner, her husband; Mary B. Soulard, J. Gaston Soulard and Henry F. McCloskey.

It is alleged in the petition of contest that at the time of signing the will Mr. Soulard was not of sound and disposing mind and memory. That by reason of his great age and diseased condition of mind and body he had not sufficient mental capacity to comprehend and understand the meaning and effect of the paper which disposed of his property, and its effect upon those persons who were or might have been the objects of his bounty, or his heirs-at-law. It is further alleged that the will was not executed by Mr. Soulard of his own free will, wish and desire as his last will in the disposition of his property. Mr. Soulard, it is averred, by reason of his infirmities and confidence in certain persons was subject to the dominion and control of his wife, Harriet M. Soulard, who was practically, it is alleged, his guardian and the manager of his estate. William H. Shaw, a kinsman of Mr. Soulard, and Joseph Soulard Lamotte, both of whom lived in the house with Mr. Soulard, are said to have had influence with him. Joseph Soulard Lamotte, it is alleged, after the death of Mrs. Soulard became her successor in the practical guardianship of Mr. Soulard and in the management of his estate. It is charged that on the day succeeding the death of Mrs. Soulard, Joseph Soulard Lamotte, together with William H. Shaw, procured the signing of the will. The said parties, it is alleged, exercised such power and influence over the mind and will of Mr. Soulard in the disposition of his property by the will as to destroy his liberty and free agency and to cause such disposition of his property to be made as to suit the purposes and wishes of the said parties, and not the purposes and wishes of Mr. Soulard. For the reasons above alleged the plaintiffs aver that paper is not the last will of Henry G. Soulard, and ask for a decree of court construing the matter.

After the present suit was filed Mr. Lamotte was suspended by the Probate Court as executor of the estate pending the litigation and the St. Louis Trust Co. was appointed to take charge. Mr. Lamotte and his sister, Mrs. Cates, were raised by Mr. Soulard. They, together with the other defendants in the case, are represented by Judge Geo. A. Madill and the law firms of Lubke & Muench, and Shepley & Lionberger. Douglas & Scudder, assisted by E. C. Kehr of the firm of Kehr & Tittman, represent the plaintiffs. The case was called at 10 o'clock. Of the jurors summoned, however, from which to select a jury, a sufficient number failed to qualify, and the case was laid over until 2 p. m.

McGuire Divorce Suit.

The contested divorce suit of James McGuire against Frances McGuire is on trial in Judge Fisher's court to-day. Over forty witnesses, the McGuires, the Hickeys, etc., have been summoned in the case and were present in the court-room, many of them being accompanied by babies who insisted on being heard by the court. Counselor Cunningham is defending the case and Ben Clark represents the plaintiff. McGuire charges his wife with desertion and infidelity. Mrs. McGuire denies her husband's charges, and preferred a counter charge of an attempted assault by her husband on a certain woman. Much of the testimony is in accordance with the charges made. The parties were married Dec. 10, 1878, and lived together until Aug. 28, 1887. Three children worn, one of whom only, Mary Ellen, aged 10 years, is living. It developed in the evidence that McGuire was jealous of a certain man who used to visit the McGuire household, it is stated, and assist Mrs. McGuire to wash the dishes and spank the baby.

Condemnation Matters Passed On.

Judge Withrow made the following rulings to-day in the condemnation proceedings of the St. Louis, Keokuk & Northwestern Railroad Co. against Frederick Herman and others overruling the motion of plaintiff to exclude interest from judgment and the motion of defendant Herman Construction Co. for a new trial. The motion of defendant Frederick Heman for judgment was sustained. Judgment for Fred Heman for $43,314.51 with interest thereon from date of verdict, Nov. 20, 1891, at 6 per cent. Execution awarded. Petition of plaintiff asking that the sum of $2,500 deposited with the clerk for the Heman Construction Co. be held by him for the defendant, Fred Heman, sustained. Judge Withrow also made rulings in a number of other cases pending in the court.

Lost His Suit.

The divorce suit of William H. Lohmann against Almeda Lohmann was tried in Judge Dillon's court to-day and dismissed on the hearing. He charged his wife with drunkenness and other indignities. Mrs. Lohmann set up the defense that her husband had condoned the alleged offenses by occupying the same room with her since filing the suit. Lohmann stated he only visited his wife's room for the purpose of getting his clothes. A witness for Mrs. Lohman testified to having dropped in to see Mrs. Lohman and was surprised to find Mr. Lohman in the room. He left immediately upon her entrance into the room, but took little clothes with him.

Divorces Granted.

Judge Withrow granted divorces to-day in three cases. Fred A. Camp said his wife, Achsah, went to dance halls, was of a quarrelsome disposition and cursed him. She assaulted him, he alleged, and threw pieces of wood and other articles at him. She stayed up at night, he stated, and would not let him sleep. Sophia Betzold charged that her husband, Andrew Betzold, knocked her down and kicked her. Ella Collins said Frank J. Collins deserted her.

HE HAD A PREMONITION.

A Messenger's Escape—An Unknown Man Killed on the Iron Mountain.

Mail car No. 4 of the Fast Mail train, No. 7, which arrives in the city every morning at 1:45 o'clock, jumped the tracks at a switch in the railroad yards at Tenth street this morning, when pulling into the depot, and collided with the baggage car of the Kansas City, Chicago & Alton train. The Chicago & Alton train was on a track adjoining that on which the Fast Mail comes in, and is one of the first trains out in the morning. Near the end of the train was a switch which must have slipped or moved after the engine passed over it as the mail car of the fast mail left the rail at this point and swerved several feet toward the baggage car. The car was not moving very rapidly, but the shock was sufficient to smash both ends of the baggage car and damage it to such an extent that it had to be sent to the repair shops.

The most remarkable feature of the collision was the miraculous escape from death of the messenger or baggage man who slept in the ruined baggage car. As he remains in St. Louis only a few hours he makes his berth in his car and sleeps there until it is time to leave in the morning. For almost a year he had made his berth in the east end of the car against the wall, but last night he slept about six feet from the wall at the west end of the car.

"I don't know what made me do it," he said, "but when I was making up my bunk for my usual nap, I was suddenly seized with a dislike for the east end of that car. I made up my bunk, however, and was about to lie down when I looked at the west end of the car and it seemed more comfortable. I moved the cot over there and went to sleep. I'm glad I did now."

The messenger has reason to congratulate himself. The east end of the car, where it was struck by the mail car, was badly shattered and torn and had he been asleep against the east wall he would no doubt have been killed by the shock. The west end of the car was not so badly wrecked. As it was, he was thrown with great force to the floor and bumped about at a lively rate before he could regain his feet. He says he thinks his guardian angel had something to do with his moods last night.

An Unknown Man Killed.

An unknown man was run over and killed at 9:30 o'clock this morning, by the Arcadia accommodation of the Iron Mountain road, engine No. 352, one-half mile below Meramec street. The man was walking east toward the track along a road from a quarry. The engineer, William Paul, said that he saw the man when he was within fifteen feet of the track, and the whistle of the engine was blown. The man did not seem to hear the warning note, but kept on. The pilot bars of the engine dashed him to the ground. The train was stopped, and Dr. J. D. Nifong of Ironton, who was on board, examined the man's injuries. It was found that he received a rupture of the base of the skull, probably from the fall. Nobody knew who he was and he bore the appearance of a tramp. He was still alive, and was taken in the baggage car to the Chouteau avenue depot. He died shortly after, and the body was turned over to the city authorities.

SORE throat and lungs are speedily cured by Leslie's Coughine; price 25c.

LEE LEM'S TRIBULATIONS.

Decision Returning a Smuggled Chinaman to Canada.

FARGO, N. D., Feb. 3.—United States District Judge Thomas to-day rendered a decision in the case of Lee Lem, Chinaman, on trial for crossing the line from Canada into this country. Lee is getting pretty well acquainted with American courts by this time. He was first tried in Grand Forks, together with two other Chinamen about four months ago. The three had been captured at Pembina and were arrested on the charge of coming into this country contrary to law. Lee's two companions were found guilty and sentenced to return to Canada, but he escaped upon a technicality. He was subsequently rearrested. Motion was then argued before Judge Thomas to have the prisoner discharged, as he had already been tried and found not guilty. The motion was overruled. Subsequently the case came up before United States Commissioner Spalding. He found Lem guilty and decided that he must be returned to China. The case was appealed and was yesterday taken up in the United States Court. Taylor Crum defended Lem and District Attorney Camp prosecuted. Arguments were much the same as in former trials. It was submitted and taken under advisement and to-day Judge Thomas rendered a decision setting aside Commissioner Spaulding's order to have Lem transported to China and ordering that he be returned to Canada.

A SWORN STATEMENT.

Adam Wackman Gives the Cost of Securing the Vehicle License Reduction.

Messrs. Adam Wackman, Donovan and O'Brien of the St. Louis Vehicle Owners' Association and who had charge of the legislative work in securing the passage of the ordinance lowering the city tax on vehicles, are naturally indignant at certain alleged aspersions cast upon their work of collecting and distributing the fund raised to defray the expenses of securing the passage of the ordinance. Mr. Wackman states that there was a considerable legitimate expense necessitated and that the committee had to sacrifice a great deal of their time and spend their own money in the work. They had expected to secure the passage of the ordinance in about six weeks, but owing to the opposition of Councilman Cole it had taken seven months. Mr. Wackman submits the following statement of collections and disbursements of the fund:

TREATMENT OF THE INSANE.

Investigation of the Hospital Management at Jacksonville, Ill.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., Feb. 3.—Matters ground along to-day at the Insane Hospital investigation. Quite a number of witnesses being put on the stand. The undertaker was examined regarding the burial of the body of Wilson, who was drowned in the reservoir. He testified that there was nothing secret about it. The health warden was present and testified that he was sure all cases of death at the hospital were reported to him. Several attendants were put on the stand to tell what they knew about the testimony of the day before. It seems to be pretty well established that M. T. Barnes, a former attendant, was very cruel, though none could say they had ever complained to anybody but the supervisor. They testified that there was plenty of food, but not always of good quality. All agreed the bread and vegetables were straight, but the meat was sometimes off and the coffee poor. The chief sensation looked for fell to the ground.

Some racy testimony was called for regarding the ten births to patients during the past thirteen years. The records were overhauled and they showed the women all to have been married and that there was nothing in the incidents to cast discredit on the hospital.

THE GOLD CURE INSTITUTE, 2021 Olive street, guarantees a permanent cure for the morphine habit.

Adams was weak. Bids of $1.40 were made, and later 100 shares sold at $1.42½. More could have been obtained at that figure, but there were no bids.

The following mining quotations were made on call to-day:

THEY STAND FIRM.

No Break in the Ranks of the Council Combine.

UNFOUNDED RUMOR THAT THEY WERE ABOUT TO DISINTEGRATE.

Councilman James' Speech Last Night Failed to Shake Them—The Other Side Tiring of the Fight—Building Commissioner Furlong's Position in Regard to Resigning—City Hall News.

Councilman James' tirade against the members of the Council combine was a fruitful theme of discussion at the City Hall this morning. His action is generally characterized as butting against a stone wall as the combine are as firm as ever in their stand on the Mayor's appointments, and the air of good natured indifference with which they treated the irate Councilman's phillipic is strong evidence that disintegration is out of the question. As announced in this paper a week ago the Arnstein resolution to investigate Dr. Dalton was looked upon by the "Push" as an opening wedge, and a large contingent of gentlemen from that wing of the Democratic party were present in the lobby of the Council last evening in the hope of seeing the greatest obstacle to their political supremacy removed. The lightness with which the combine treated the attack is evinced by the manner in which they treated the Councilman. When Mr. James arose and stated that he wanted to know what the Committee considered a reasonable time in which to report appointments and what they were doing. Acting-President Sloan announced quietly that to the best of his knowledge the committee were still considering the Mayor's appointments. Mr. Cole then arose to the point of order that Mr. James was not entitled to the floor, which the Chairman ruled as well taken. After which Mr. Cole moved that Mr. James be given thirty minutes in which to address the Council on the state of his feelings. Mr. James exhausted himself in eight minutes, and the combine insisted that he should fill out the remaining twenty-two, but he declined the task. Members in and out of the combine think that the speaker used poor judgment in declaring by things holy that no matter who were mayor hereafter, whether C. P. Walbridge or E. A. Noonan, he would not throw dirt in his face as the present committee had done to Mayor Noonan. The lobby applauded frequently during the Councilman's effort, but its effect on the Council at large was dampening on their spirits.

The dissolution of the combine expected last night was due to a rumor in circulation among the push for some weeks past that reorganization of the Council was imminent. The story as told by a prominent politician who is well informed as to the movements of the Mayor's supporters, was that two Republican Councilmen who are friendly to the administration were trying to effect a reorganization of the Council. The terms of the compromise were that the Democratic anti-combine members would go over to the Republicans, give them the officers of the body and the leading places on important committees on condition that the Mayor's appointments outside of Lindsay and Holman would be confirmed. The matter had gone so far that the names of Messrs. Edward Watson and W. H. Broughton were mentioned in connection with the Secretaryship and Assistant Secretaryship of the Council, a revival of the old movement made some months ago, when an attempt was made to run Charles Comfort for the Secretaryship."

Nothing came of it further than discussion, as the Republican members of the combine, Messrs. Cole, Horton and Meier, are pledged against reorganization.

The attitude of the combine to the Mayor's appointments to the minor offices is an open question, though in all probability they will do as they did with the Street Commissioner and wait until a name is sent in that suits them. On the Lindsay and Holman matter they will always remain firm.

Mr. James' speech last night is looked upon as the last expiring kick of the anti-combine members, and the sentiment of his colleagues is well expressed by Mr. Wehner, who declared last night, officially, that "We are tired fighting."

Furlong's Position.

Building Commissioner Furlong's communication to the Council last evening was in the nature of a surprise to his supporters. He has been kept in office by the combine, but his recent active participation in outside affairs gave rise to the suspicion that he would meet the same fate as Dr. Dalton and be investigated. His office was investigated a short time ago, and whitewashed. He might have been as fortunate again but he took time by the forelock and perpetrated a very neat straddle. He did not resign but sent in a communication to President Walbridge to the effect that he was tired of being Building Commissioner and would be obliged to them if they would confirm his successor, as he was desirous of severing his connection with the public service.

When seen this morning Mr. Furlong explained his action by saying that he was placed in a very peculiar position. "I can't resign," he said, "because I am under bond to serve until my successor is appointed and confirmed. I feel that I have acted properly in this matter. I consulted a lawyer and he told me not to leave until my successor qualifies. I can't leave now. I appointed Mr. John Johnson, my head deputy, four months ago and the Mayor refused to confirm him. If I leave there is nobody to run the office. I'll have to stay unwillingly until the Council agree on my successor."

Some of the Councilmen were nettled at the Commissioner's communication and the Committee were ready to report on his successor's name at once, but Mr. Cullinane succeeded in having the matter put off a week, as he was not sure of enough votes to secure Mr. Reed's confirmation. He expressed himself as satisfied that Mr. Reid would be confirmed next Tuesday.

Opposing an Improvement.

The House Committee on Public Improvements held a very lively session yesterday afternoon. A bill for the improvement of Pestalozzi street from Ninth to Eleventh streets along the Anheuser-Busch Brewery plant, has been up for consideration for some time. It was opposed mainly through the efforts of Messrs. O'Brien of the Fourteenth Ward, and Dacey, Mr. O'Brien holding that if the brewery wanted the property improved they ought to pay for it themselves and not have the poor people on the opposite side of the street taxed for their benefit. Mr. Adolphus Busch chafed under the delay and wrote a letter to Mayor Noonan asking him to use his kind offices with Messrs. O'Brien and Dacey and have them withdraw their opposition. Somebody said that Mr. O'Brien was fighting the brewery because he was a temperance man. That got the statesman from the Fourteenth Ward ruffled and he demanded that the bills be considered yesterday. This drew the remark from Mr. Kaye that the letter from the brewery was having its effect. Mr. O'Brien declared emphatically that if he was a temperance man he was no crank and insisted on having the bill considered. He put himself on record as being opposed to taxing the people for what would not benefit them. The bill was reported favorably to the House.

The bill for the opening of Lake avenue, from Haydock's Delmar avenue addition to Foerst Park, was reported favorably by the committee after a long and tedious struggle between opposing property holders. Mr. Rutledge of Rutledge & Horton represented the people in the Haydock strip, and Mr. Price the property holders in Westmoreland and Portland places, whose privrcy would be disturbed by the proposed opening. Mr. Price offered to sell the 60 feet in Portland place that shut off the avenue if the Haydock people would erect a gate and make it a private thoroughfare. This they refused to do. If the bill becomes a law the property will have to be condemned and the Haydock people will have to pay the damages.

The compromise would have cost them $15,000, the condemnation proceedings about four times that amount.

PATRIOTIC SONS OF AMERICA.

A National Gathering To-Day at Druids' Hall.

The Patriotic Sons of America are in convention assembled to-day in the hall on the top floor of the Druids' Building, southeast corner of Ninth and Market streets.

It is strongly suspected that the present session has for its object a plan for political action at the expense of the benevolent features of the order. There is ground for the belief that the local council called the meeting, and delegates were sent from other camps outside the city. The local camps, it is said, became dissatisfied with the conduct of affairs and they are anxious to inaugurate a more spirited course.

The delegates and local citizens who are known to belong to the order will not so much as acknowledge that there is a convention, and if they open their mouths it is to send the inquisitor on a wild goose chase. A POST-DISPATCH reporter, who visited a number of halls in search of the convention, finally climbed to the top floor of the Druids' building. A gentleman who stood guard said there was no convention of Patriotic Sons there, but said that a State Committee of Knights of Pythias was in session to consider objections raised to the insurance clause of their order. Insurance Commissioner Ellerbe was then called on, and he said there was no question raised about the Knights of Pythias. A second visit at a later hour in the day found the delegates strolling in two by two from dinner. All were strictly reticent about the purposes of the meeting.

The Patriotic Sons of America have shown their hands in politics on previous occasions. They are strongly suspected of playing an active part in the late School Board election. Several months ago they made a proposition to the School Board to supply American flags to all schools, and the offer was accepted. The present session may develop a flag episode of another sort.

The secrecy of the order developed in a ludicrous manner when several of the delegates from abroad were at a loss to know the place of meeting, and they inquired of the hotel clerks. Those gentlemen who are usually well informed had no idea, and the delegates did not reach the hall.

THE BRASSFIELD SALE.

Good Average Prices—What the Choice Brought.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 3.—The Brassfield sale was well attended again to-day, and up to noon ten trotters had passed under the hammer for $9,880.

Woodward & Shanklin, whose sale begins here next week, received a telegram from Monroe Salisbury of California to-day, saying he would send five head, including the wonderful mare Margaret S., 2:12½, and her dam to be sold.

The best prices realized to-day was as follows: Morea, bay mare, 10, record of 2:24¼, by Electioneer, dam by Mambrino Pilot, to John E. Madden of Lexington for $1,125; Miss Q., bay mare, 6, by Wilkesonean, dam by Abdallah Mambrino, to John Jones of Uniontown, Pa., for $880; Col. Tom, bay horse, 8, by Lamps, dam by Whip Clay, to John F. Payne of Lexington, for $1,300; Norvalsod, brown horse, 3, by Norval, dam by Messenger Duroc, to J. H. Cartright of Oregon, Ill., for $1,000; Alonzo, bay colt, 2, by Allandorf, dam by Young Jim, to Dr. Wm. Berry of Louisville, for $950; San Pablo, bay horse, 5, by Electioneer, dam by Don, to Victor, for $1,300.

WILL REORGANIZE.

Illinois Coal Miners Want a New Union.

JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 3.—The resolutions adopted at the Coal City Miners' meeting called by State President Goings and Secretary Howells to clear themselves of the charges brought against them were more severe on the State officials than the Braceville resolutions. After a lively debate they adopted this brief but strongly denunciatory resolution:

Resolved, That we, the miners of Coal City, start a local union awaiting the call of a National Convention, and that we have no more dealings with Springfield.

The Braidwood miners were more bitter than those of either Coal City or Braceville, and were in favor of denouncing the State officials in more vigorous terms. Mr. Howells admitted that he opposed the gross-weight bill, when the proof was shown, and that he recommended a $10 initiation fee instead of $1, as 1,000 men would be as strong at a $10 piece as 10,000 at $1 a piece. He also admitted that the item under expense "Thomas Collins' board, $222.47," meant his own board at Springfield, which is not allowable. It is also clearly shown that by opposing mining legislation and neglecting to enforce or try to enforce the laws after they were passed, they misappropriated their time in the interests of the Republican party, and consequently the miners' money which they drew for the salary was appropriated to a wrong use and to the injury instead of the benefit of the miners. The miners refuse to go into the organization under the present officials. They say it is a pyramid with the apex down. Thirty-two thousand miners are in the State and only 2,000 in the organization. They want a new organization and a new constitution, and to that end favor a State mass convention of miners.

Prendergast—Ring.

A brilliant ceremony will occur this evening at 6 o'clock at St. Rose's Church, Rose Hill, when Miss Catherine Ring, daughter of the late Edward Ring will be united in marriage to Mr. George G. Prendergast, son of Mr. George Prendergast. At the hour appointed the bridal party will enter the church to the music of "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. Miss Kalkman leading the voices. The church will be ablaze with lights and a glow with flowers of bridal white. Rev. Father M. C. Glynn will perform the ceremony. The groom will await his bride in the sanctuary supported by his best man, Mr. Ed Prendergast. Advancing up the aisle, preceding the bride, will come the array of attendants, the bridemaids, Miss Genevieve Ring and Miss May O'Brien, the maid of honor, Miss Nellie Hogan the groomsmen, Messrs. Bud McNamee and Gus Hagan; the ushers, Messrs. James Prendergast and James Rohan. The bridemaids and maid of honor will wear costumes alike of white crepon made with demi-train, the skirts finished with graduated ruffles of the crepon. They will carry white roses and will wear little white veils of tulle caught to the hair with pearl pins. Directly after will come two little children, Miss Charlotte Ring, the niece of the bride, and Miss Marguerite Chamberlain, niece of the groom. The bride will enter leaning upon the arm of her brother, Doctor Frank Ring, who will give her away. She will wear a regal bridal gown of cream white crystal silk; the bodice is pointed and the slender waist will be encircled by a girdle, the sleeves are full and the high corsage is ornamented with point lace. Down the sides of the skirt are cascades of the filmy lace, while draperies of the same finish the plainly made skirt from the waist. The train sweeps away in graceful folds and falling far behind is finished by a narrow border of lace. From the brown hair will fall the white illusion veil. In her hand she will carry a cluster of bride roses and her ornaments will be diamonds, the gift of the groom's parents. After the ceremony the party will drive to the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Ring, 4107 Plymouth avenue, where a large reception will be held. They will go East on a bridal tour.

REAL ESTATE INTERESTS.

A Fine Building for St. Charles Street—Mrs. Petering Sells for $60,000.

L. C. Nelson has closed a contract for the construction of an eight-story building to be erected on the south side of St. Charles street at the corner of the alley immediately east of the site, fronting on Twelfth street, where the F. A. Drew Glass Co. will soon commence the construction of an eight-story business house.

The building to be erected for Mr. Nelson has already been leased by him for a term of years to the wholesale dry goods firm of Hargadine, McKittrick & Co., who will use the premises for a warehouse in connection with the place now occupied by the concern at the southeast corner of Washington avenue and Eighth street, owned by W. W. and L. L. Culver.

Louis C. Nelson's Building.

The architect, W. B. Ittner, employed by Mr. Nelson, has provided for a building fronting 52½ feet by a depth of 102 feet, eight stories high over a finished basement. On a base of brown stone, two stories high, will rest the six additional stories, that are to be carried up in press brick with elaborate ornamentations of terra cotta and carved stone for the main facade, which will also be decorated with an attractive brick cornice. The interior construction will be on the slow combustion plan, the floors being finished in hard maple. All the windows on the alley will be fitted with fire-proof shutters, the construction throughout conforming strictly to the requirements of the St. Louis Board of Fire Underwriters. There will be freight elevators at the front and at the alley entrance to the building, and each of these lifts will be inclosed with brick shafts opening on the respective floors to facilitate the economical and speedy handling of merchandise. This improvement, to cost $60,000, will be ready for occupancy Aug. 1.

Two large structures of the character described on St. Charles street, one of them fronting on Twelfth, will have a marked effect on the value of property in that locality, so rapidly developing into a first-class wholesale section. West of Twelfth street on St. Charles, a number of small business houses have been built lately and most of them are occupied by representatives of new firms which heretofore have had no headquarters in St. Louis.

MRS. WAINWRIGHT'S $60,000 PURCHASE.

An elegant piece of vacant residence property comprising nearly half a block, extending along the west line of Euclid avenue, in the square next east of Forest Park, between Lindell avenue on the north and Pine street on the south, was purchased to-day for $60,000 by Mrs. Samuel D. Wainwright, mother of Ellis Wainwright, who with her son has invested an immense amount of money in St. Louis real estate within the past three years. It is Mr. Ellis Wainwright for whom the ten-story $750,000 building is now being erected at the northwest corner of Chestnut and Seventh streets.

Property bought by Mrs. Wainwright widow of Samuel D. Wainwright, belonged to Mrs. Petering, widow of Henry Petering, who bought the property about four years ago for something like $34,000. Thomas G. Watts negotiated the transaction, which gives his client a profit of $26,000, nearly three times the cost of the property to the Petering estate. It is not often that Mr. Watts reports a sale, but when he does it is invariably a big one, and this one is a fair sample of his deals. In the property sold there is a frontage of 305 feet on the south side of Lindell avenue by a depth of 215 feet to a 20-foot alley, and 311 feet fronting on the north line of Pine street by a depth of 215 feet to the alley, the measurement given being a few inches short on each front, the price paid for the two frontages named was practically $97 a foot. This is a low figure for the Lindell avenue front, but it is more than offset by the Pine street lots, which are not nearly so valuable. However, considering the magnitude of the sale the price is fairly up to wholesale rates, notwithstanding the fact that small parcels on Lindell avenue, in the same block, but nearer the park, have been sold at $150 a foot. Mrs. D. L. Morrison paid that price for the ground occupied by her fine new residence. Farther west on Lindell, at the northwest corner of King's highway, a lot which Dr. J. J. Laurence bought in June, 1890, at $175 a foot is now valued at $250, that price having been refused for it not long ago. Mr. Noelker, the brewer, who is completing a fine residence at the southwest corner of Taylor, bought that ground about three years ago at $150 a foot, and if the site was vacant to-day it would sell for $100 a foot more.

As another indication of the appreciation of high caste residence property it may be stated that within the past few days an offer by Mr. E. C. Simmons of $175 a foot for a lot in Westmoreland place next west of John T. Davis' property, which is about to be improved on an extensive scale for a home place, was refused, Pat Burns being the owner, who rejected the offer. It has not been more than two years since these Westmoreland lots were selling at $75 a foot. There is a preference for this fancy West End property. It is enhancing in value very rapidly, and there is not much of it left upon the market. The growing tendency to build the most costly and magnificent residences in that section indicates that the most elegant homes of St. Louis will be found west of Union avenue in the district north of Forest Park and south of Delmar avenue. In fact that is the only region left that is properly located and susceptible of being reserved and improved for high-caste residence property. Daniel Catlin, it appears, had the foresight to anticipate the outcome of that territory more than three years ago, when he bought the Forsythe tract, which he has since improved, and could now probably sell for $1,000,000. As a matter of fact his agent, Mr. Chas. H. Bailey, has been asked if an offer of that sum for the property would be considered. Offers of $250 a foot have been made for building sites in the Forsythe, or Catlin tract, but they have invariably been refused, the owner's ideas being considerably above that figure.

Wm. Zink & Co. report the sale of 26x150 feet of ground on the north side of Page avenue, between Whittier and Pendleton, at $40 a foot, from Silas Vandeventer to Richard F. Casey, who is going to improve the site with a $5,500 house.

CARONDELET NEWS.

Hopes Entertained That Virginia Avenue Will Be Opened—South End Items.

Messrs. F. W. Mott, J. P. Richardson and Lewis Hornsby, representing the Carondelet Citizens' Committee, visited the Board of Public Improvement Committee of the House of Delegates yesterday afternoon for the purpose of soliciting the aid of that committee to have Virginia avenue opened from Bowen street north. The Carondelet gentlemen left for home in high spirits, the committee promising to have the street opened. The opening of this much-needed thoroughfare will give the South End people a direct thoroughfare to the city. The Delaney School will now front on Virginia avenue instead of a huge vacant lot, although the opening of Virginia avenue will cause the school to lose a small portion of its yard. The street will cut through Boyle's nursery and unite with Stringtown road to Meramec street.

About two weeks ago the Finance Committee of the defunct Carondelet Relief Association held a meeting for the purpose of deciding what was to be done with the money left in the treasury. Christ Koche, the Treasurer of the association, reported that there was $45.85 in the treasury. It is said that it was then decided to turn this money over to the police for the benefit of the poor. Since then the members appear to have changed their minds, for Mr. W. C. Plass now says that the association members will distribute the funds among aged people who need it, and other deserving poor.

George and Thomas Jackson were arrested by the police Tuesday on a charge of disturbing the peace. During the temporary absence of his father Monday evening George began, so it is alleged, to break up every article in china and glassware he could lay his hands on. The appearance of his father caused a temporary suspension of the work. Father and son had some words and it was found necessary to call in the police to restore order and quiet. The son as soon as he saw the police came ran away, but was subsequently locked up. The father, Thomas, shortly after the trouble started in to finish what his son attempted, demolishing the glass and chinaware. Before he would desist Officer Mulligan was called in and arrested the elder Mr. Jackson. Owing to Mrs. Jackson, the wife and mother, being sick and suffering with a very painful injury to her leg she could not appear this morning to prosecute. The case was laid over until to-morrow.

UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS.

Old-Time Law Partners as Opposing Counsel in a Damage Suit.

The United States Court of Appeals got through with a good deal of business to-day. The first case argued was the damage suit of Nora O'Brien of Colorado against the Union Pacific road. Mrs. O'Brien got a $3,500 judgment for the death of her husband in the United States Circuit Court of Colorado and the railroad company took an appeal. The attorneys for the company were Judge Thurston of Omaha and Judge Teller of Denver, Mr. H. E. Luthe of Denver appearing for Mrs. O'Brien. Judge Thurston made the closing speech and he opened it with the following preliminary statement:

May it please the court, I find myself this morning indulging in a retrospection in which both sad and pleasant memories are hopelessly intertwined. Twenty-two years ago this young man (Mr. Luthe) who has just addressed the court and I left a little Wisconsin village and turned our faces toward the beautiful West. With but little money in our pockets and a vast deal of legal information in our minds, we set about the task of winning fame and fortune in our chosen profession. The first shingle I displayed to the admiring gaze of a confiding public bore upon it the firm name of Thurston & Luthe. These are the pleasant memories. Alas, that they should be followed by the sad. After the lapse of years, how different are our fortunes! To me has fallen the difficult task of toiling upward along the stony path which is for a railroad attorney or him who undertakes the defense of corporate interests before juries and the courts, while he, on the other hand, glides along an easy slope surrounded by the perfume of the rose and wearing on his brow the halo and that popular acclaim which comes to him alone, who stands before a jury of his sympathetic countrymen pleading the cause of suffering men and tearful women against the alleged oppression of giant monopolies.

The Judge is one of the best speakers at the American bar and his remarks about his law partner were listened to with great interest by the judges on the bench and all present, as in fact, his whole speech was. Judge Teller, his colleague in the case, is a brother of United States Senator Teller.

Six other cases were submitted on briefs, namely, that of Archibald D. Hawkins et al. vs. Mary E. Wills, from the United States Circuit Court of Arkansas; four cases appealed from the United States Circuit Court of Indian Territory by George A. Eddy et al., receivers, the defendants being J. B. Brady et al., George W. Powell, O. L. Dalaney, Wm. J. Wallace and Moses Lafayette, and the case of J. S. B. Appolos et al. vs. J. B. Brady et al.

In the United States District Court the suit of Charles A. Hotchkiss against the Samuel Cupples Woodenware Co. was dismissed, after having been on the docket several years. The case was tried twice, but the jury failed to agree each time. The court ordered two dividends declared by the assignee of the defunct Central Savings Bank in favor of the late John and Patrick Grinsell to be paid to Thomas Grinsell, administrator of their estates. The dividends are the 3d and 4th declared in the settlement of the broken bank's affairs and the money has been in the court's hands for sixteen years.

Judge Paxson's Court.

Yesterday when August Brunning's son came home to the Brunning residence at 1521 North Fifteenth street, and the boy did not give him his pay to get some booze, the father cursed and swore until the air was blue. Officer Shaw arrested him. In the Second District Police Court he told the Judge, through the medium of Marshal Boise, who acted as interpreter, that his boy was bad, very bad; he never worked, Brunning said. The family was in a conspiracy to get rid of him, so that they could run things as they wished. The evidence was against him and he was fined $10.

Chester Miller, a young colored man, who had a hankering to pose as a "bad nigger," opened fire on another negro yesterday near Sixth and Biddle streets. Detective Burke heard the shots and caught him at Seventh street and Franklin avenue. Chester got a $20 prize for having the revolver and $10 more for working it.

Four Bodies Found.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 3.—The dead and missing in the explosion of the alcoholic condenser at Rummell's hat factory last night, were: William Duffy, a hatter; Oscar Lenrich, boss plumber; Daniel O'Keefe, a plumber, and Albert Anderson, the plumber's helper. Four bodies were found in the ruins after the fire which caused about $4,000 damage had been put out. The bodies were so badly charred that they could not be identified.

Submarine Mine Test.

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 3.—A submarine mine for harbor defense, the invention of Lieut. Marshall of the United States Navy, was tested here yesterday. In shape the mine is more like a coffin than a cask, and is made of sheet-iron. Its total weight is 480 pounds. It contains a charge of gun cotton equivalent of 102 pounds of dry gun cotton. The mine is so constructed that it may be fired from shore or by contact, at will. The test yesterday was in every way a most perfect success.

On the one hand there's $500 in cash; on the other, there's a cure for your Catarrh. One of these two things has got to come to you—that's promised and agreed by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

But, do you think they'd make any such promise if they weren't sure that you'd be cured? That has come to thousands, through this Remedy, when everything else has failed. By its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, the worst chronic cases of Catarrh in the Head have been perfectly and permanently cured.

That's the reason they're willing to take such a risk. This is what they say, clearly and plainly: "If we can't cure your Catarrh, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing, we'll pay you $500 in cash." Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, beginning at 8 a. m. to-day, for Missouri: Generally fair to-day and Thursday; variable winds.

An extended area of moderately high pressure, accompanied by generally cloudless skies, covers the territory from the Mississippi west. East of this the weather remains cloudy. Quite heavy rains, changing to snows, occurred yesterday from Ohio eastward to the New England States, but clearing conditions are moving eastward, causing the rain to cease at all but coast stations.

Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, beginning at 12 m. to-day, for St. Louis: Fair; nearly stationary temperature to-night; followed by slowly rising temperature.

THE repentance of the City Council for its shameful whitewashing of Czar ZIEGENHEIN will be accepted and its error forgiven when it has done its full duty under the reconsidered investigation resolution.

THE spectacle of the late Republican Governor of Nebraska giving up his office as a thief forced by the law to surrender his plunder, although a pleasant one to the country, must give a tinge of pain to honest Republicans.

The SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH accepts advertising on a distinct and unequivocating guarantee that its circulation in the City of St. Louis and suburbs is more than double that of the "Republic" and larger than any other Sunday newspaper.

VOTE-CATCHING philanthropy exercised at the expense of the city and in violation of the law is not the kind that the people want in their officials. It is a form of political corruption which combines injustice, law-breaking and dishonesty.

IT is reported from Chili that the people there have changed with respect to EGAN and now regard him with affection and veneration. It should be remembered, however, that Mr. EGAN has before demonstrated his skill as a molder of Chilian sentiment through newspaper correspondence.

CAPT. JOYCE deprives Czar ZIEGENHEIN of the plea that he does not know the character of "Cuddy Mack's" place. Still Mr. ZIEGENHEIN may continue his license on the broad philanthropic ground which he assumes at the expense of the community that poor "Cuddy" cannot make a living unless he is permitted to run an immoral resort.

COUNCILMAN HOOLAN not only thinks but boldly says that any call on Collector ZIEGENHEIN for information as to his official conduct is "a dark attempt to injure Mr. ZIEGENHEIN'S character." Mr. HOOLAN seems to be aware of some crookedness in Mr. ZIEGENHEIN'S official conduct which is bound to come out if he gives a straightforward answer to straightforward questions.

THE WORLD'S warning to HILL against his scheme to make a tyrannous use of his power over the New York machine in the interest of his presidential candidacy is echoing in the Democratic press all over the country. His early convention stroke threatens to more than nullify the effect of New York's voice in the National Convention. Senator HILL is probably beginning to realize that the WORLD'S courageous protest contained sound advice.

NEWSPAPER ILLUSTRATION.

The poor old Republic, crippled by starving economy, has fallen behind the journalistic procession in St. Louis, but is still shouting as if it were right in the ranks. Editorially it says this morning that last Sunday's Republic contained sixty-one illustrations. So it did—but in estimating artistic attractiveness of metropolitan papers pictorial presentation of the marvelous transformation of "Before and After Taking," the portraiture of the master mind who brought the $3 shoe into the world of commerce and the elaborate cuts of "full sets for $8" and life-giving galvanic belts are not, as a rule, counted as legitimate claims for distinction.

Newspaper illustrating is attractive and expensive. The POST-DISPATCH was the first daily newspaper in the world to introduce the chalk plate process, and the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH is to-day everywhere ranked among the finest illustrated newspapers in the United States. The SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH expends more money for artistic illustrations than both the Globe-Democrat and the Republic combined.

The Republic last Sunday printed less than 18 original cuts and counting all illustrations for that issue, including the syndicate job lot of woman's and children cuts the total score was 44. Count 'em. The SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH printed 65 and the Globe-Democrat altogether only 19.

Stock initial letters and secret society badges are not to be counted as attractive newspaper illustration. Artistic illustration is only one of the many features of superior excellence of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH over its competitors. Compare next Sunday's papers for yourself.

THE ESSENTIAL POINT.

It will be a sorry result to the lesson of the Sarah street horror if the matter is permitted to close with the Coroner's verdict censuring the Wabash railroad for violating an obsolete ordinance limiting the speed of railroad trains to six miles an hour within the city limits.

That ordinance is violated hourly and should be amended to allow of more reasonable speed. The speed may be greatly increased without danger to the public if the railroad companies see that the surface street crossings are properly guarded. Had there been a guard at the Sarah street crossing no accident would have happened to the sleighing party if the Wabash train had been running at the rate of forty miles an hour. This matter of compelling the railroads in return for the valuable privilege of crossing the streets to insure the safety of the people by maintaining day and night guards at grade crossings is the essential point and inheres in the rights of the community.

If any legislation is necessary to enforce this right the Municipal Assembly should see to it at once. The responsibility for accidents arising from insufficient safeguards at surface crossings must be placed, without possibility of escape through legal technicality, upon the railroads.

LIGHT FOR THAT CELLAR.

In shame and confusion last night the Council backed down from its previous resolution to whitewash ZIEGENHEIN at all hazards and to aid him in keeping the official record of his administration hidden from the Municipal Assembly, the press and the people.

That resolution was the culmination of a year of most remarkable effort on the part of city officials to shield the details of the City Collector's administration from public scrutiny.

On the 8th of February last, when the City Comptroller and the School Board were both cramped for means by a falling off in the collections, the POST-DISPATCH compared the official report of collections for 1890 with the report for 1885, and showed that, in spite of the great increase in all lines of business, there had been a decrease in license-tax collections of $211,628 in 1890 as compared with 1885, leaving dramshop licenses out of the comparison on account of the change increasing that tax from $100 to $500. Collector ZIEGENHEIN'S only public explanation of this was his statement in an interview that the inefficiency and bad management of CLAY SEXTON, his predecessor, had run collections down so low that it was very difficult to bring them up again.

This showing and explanation certainly gave the public a right to call for a more detailed official report or for the institution by the Mayor and City Council of an official scrutiny of the Collector's books and records. The Mayor publicly promised to take action in the premises and to call for the information which Czar ZIEGENHEIN refused to give to the press for publication.

Nothing, however, was done till the POST-DISPATCH, after waiting a year, again took the matter up and made such a showing of the Collector's unlawful method of dealing with butchers' licenses and saloon licenses that Councilman ANDERSON induced the Council to call on the Collector for the long suppressed information. This call produced wonderful hurrying and scurrying upon the part of the Collector to make saloons licensed on credit or on the installment plan pay up.

Then followed the remarkable action of the Council, when it took advantage of ANDERSON'S absence to practically rescind its call for information and to accept a remarkable confession of malfeasance or gross inefficiency in office from ZIEGENHEIN as satisfactory proof of his good administration.

But even the long-delayed and reluctant call which the Council has at last been forced to make, limited as it is to saloon licenses when it ought to cover the whole field of city license tax collections, will be the beginning of the end of all concealment of the operations of that branch of our huge tax machine.

Mr. ZIEGENHEIN may be as honest in money matters as any other rich and respectable banker in this city—as faithful in office as any other city politician with the mayoralty bee buzzing in his bonnet—but that tax-machine is an engine so potent and the temptation to misuse it so great that no politician should be permitted to use it at his discretion, or to keep his method of operating it hidden in some dark cellar, locked and barred against every form of public investigation.

THE lesson to-day in the POST-DISPATCH "infant class" on Missouri, concerns the method of apportioning the Legislative and Senatorial Districts of the city of St. Louis. As it would be wearisome waste of time for any one not densely ignorant of the affairs of the State to listen to an exposition of this familiar and much-discussed subject, all members except the editor of the Republic may take a recess. This obdurate youngster shows his woful need of instruction by insisting in his newspaper that the reapportionment of the city wards should be made at once, if at all, "before the session of the State Legislature, in order that the same boundaries that define the wards may be used for the Legislative and Senatorial Districts." If the editor of the Republic were not a babbling infant in Missouri politics he would know that the State Legislature has nothing to do with the division of this city into Legislative and Senatorial Districts, but that this duty is performed by the Circuit Court. It may be done at any time before the next general election. The political kindergarten is dismissed for the present.

THE unequivocal statement by ex-Postmaster-General FRANK HATTON in the Washington Post concerning the Blaine-Harrison quarrel leaves nothing to be desired in the way of clearness and emphasis. The charge is flatly made that BLAINE acted as guide, philosopher and friend for the Chilians, antagonized the President throughout and then incautiously vented his contempt for Soldier Boy BEN in the presence of a crowd of wondering foreign diplomates. Mr. BLAINE'S peace policy will undoubtedly receive the approval of the American people, but it is food for wonder that a diplomate so clever as he should be so indiscreet as to talk about his differences with his official superior. It gives rise to the suspicion that there is something wrong with his head as well as with his stomach.

THE Republic comes out to-day with a deposition as to the star route circulation of its semi-weekly edition. For months it has referred to increases in circulation, presumably to its daily, and is now forced to the explosion of its own fraud. The circulation of the daily and Sunday Republic is an unknown quantity. It is claimed that its circulation is its own private business and when the POST-DISPATCH and Globe-Democrat offered to submit their circulation books to a committee of merchants, the Republic declined to permit anyone to see its circulation books. January and February are the months for weekly papers to get their annual subscriptions, and to make big claims, but the POST-DISPATCH is still waiting, ready to pay all expenses, for some opportunity to prove that its daily circulation is more than double that of the Republic.

DURING the discussion and vote upon the reconsideration of the Ziegenhein resolution in the Council, President WALBRIDGE, who engineered the whitewashing scheme, was conspicuous by his absence. Does the President of the Council think that he can keep his grip on the Ziegenhein "pull" and still retain the respect of law-abiding citizens by dodging his duty? No man can sit on the fence in this fight against law-breaking. He must stand up for the law and the rights of the community in the open or be counted with the opposition. No skulking, Mr. WALBRIDGE.

THE proposal to submit a constitutional amendment providing for the election of Senators by a direct vote of the people has been indorsed by the House Committee on Elections. The plan, however, will meet a stumbling block when it reaches the Senate. In the first place the majority there is Republican and is not in sympathy with the spirit of progressive democracy. In the second place some of the Senators know that they would never be elected by a direct vote of the people.

SENATOR HILL seems to be in touch with the machine, but it is doubtful if he is with the people. He is wonderfully clever, but cleverness may be confined within too small a circle. Conventions nominate, but they do not elect.

THE decision of the House Ways and Means Committee to submit separate tariff reform bills is an assurance that the Democrats in Congress will act and will act in the most effective way to bring relief to the country.

GEN. BUTLER'S charges against Admiral PORTER, revived in his book of chestnuts, will not attract much attention. Nothing could be more untimely and uninteresting than a quarrel between dead men.

CALLED BACK.

Ziegenhein's Report to Be Reconsidered by the Council.

President Walbridge's Wire-Pulling Was Love's Labor Lost.

HOW THE CZAR COLLECTS REAL ESTATE DEALERS' LICENSES.

A Hot Council Meeting Last Night, With Walbridge Absent, But Anderson on Deck—The Latter's Motion for Reconsideration Carried, With Only Hoolan and Bensiek Opposing—Further Action Postponed Until Walbridge Reappears—Czar Ziegenhein's Waterloo.

When Councilman W. T. Anderson went to the meeting of the City Council last night, he went with the expectation of having a significant settlement with President Walbridge regarding the strange and hurried action taken on the Ziegenhein report at the preceding meeting.

That report had been made to the Council in compliance with a resolution introduced by Councilman Anderson, asking for a statement fully covering the dramshop license department of the City Collector's office. The statement had been buried in the Council during the absence of Mr. Anderson in Washington, D. C. Through a remarkable exhibition of shrewd and obstinate wire-pulling by President Walbridge the Council had been induced to accept the statement as "complete and satisfactory," despite its glaring failure to supply the information asked for by the Anderson resolution. It was to challenge that strange action, unfairly taken during his absence, that Councilman Anderson entered the Council chamber last night. He was prepared to show up the deficiencies of Czar Ziegenhein's statement in a way that would have caused President Walbridge some trouble to explain how he (Walbridge) had been able to find the report so "complete and satisfactory."

WALBRIDGE KEPT AWAY.

But Councilman Anderson found that so far as a reckoning with President Walbridge was concerned, it was not to be had last night. The President did not attend the Council meeting, being confined to his home by illness, it was said. This announcement was made as soon as the Council session was opened, with Vice-President Sloan in the chair, and Councilmen Anderson; Cole, Flesh, Hoolan, Bensiek, James, Arnstein, Cullinane, Wehner and Horton present.

The action on the Ziegenhein statement was immediately taken up, however, as Councilman Anderson realized that a hot fight would be necessary to give him a chance to pass upon an official report which had been submitted in answer to his own resolution, but which had also most adroitly been spirited away from any action he might have desired to take upon it. He found the fight waiting for him, Councilmen Hoolan and Bensiek furnishing that diversion.

During the day Hoolan and Bensiek had visited the City Collector's office and received their instructions. They came to the Council meeting under orders to prevent, at all hazards, the passage of a reconsideration vote. They fought to that end tooth and nail, and behind their desperate fight it was easy to see the frightened face of Czar Ziegenhein, filled with the dread of a Council search light falling upon the records of the City Collector's office.

"I desire, Mr. President," said Councilman Anderson as soon as the Council session opened, "to move a reconsideration of the Council vote which declared City Collector Ziegenhein's report to the Council complete and satisfactory. That vote was taken during my absence from the city on motion of President Walbridge, and I had intended to ask that a reconsideration of the vote and further study of the bill be made to-night. But I see that President Walbridge is not present, and I do not desire to take advantage of him in his absence, as was done, however, in my case. I will therefore present my motion to-night in the following form:"

COUNCILMAN ANDERSON'S MOTION.

Councilman Anderson then handed to the clerk of the Council a written motion, reading as follows:

"Mr. President, I find from reading the records that in response to a resolution offered by me at the second preceding meeting of the Council, the City Collector made a report to this body at its last meeting which, in my absence, was accepted as complete and satisfactory. I think that report deserves a more careful consideration than was given it. Therefore, Mr. President, I move that the vote whereby said report was accepted as satisfactory be reconsidered.

"In making this motion, I wish to state that if my motion prevails I shall move to lay over the report until the next meeting, as I do not desire to take advantage of the absence of our worthy President, upon whose motion the report was accepted as satisfactory."

Councilman Bensiek sprung to his feet in great excitement when this motion was read. He said that he saw no necessity for a reconsideration of the Council's action. The report was satisfactory and had been officially declared so, and that settled it. Collector Ziegenhein was the best Collector this city ever had. He (Bensiek) had been to the Collector's office that day and he had been profoundly impressed with the vast collection business which he saw going on there. There was no reason to question Ziegenhein's methods or his ability.

Mr. Cole seconded Mr. Anderson's motion, saying he believed the friends of Collector Ziegenhein should court an investigation of the Collector's office, and that Collector Ziegenhein had told him that day that he desired such investigation. Mr. Cole stated that the Collector had said, also, that since Jan. 1, 1892, he had collected 800 saloon licenses, aggregating $265,000.

Mr. Hoolan thought he saw in this Council investigation a suspicious attempt to blacken Collector Ziegenhein's character. He thought Mr. Cole's action especially strange, and he condemned Mr. Anderson's efforts to secure a reconsideration of the vote on Ziegenhein's statement.

MR. HOOLAN'S CRAFTY SCHEME.

Then Mr. Hoolan made a crafty proposition.

"If," said he, "Mr. Anderson is so unwilling to take advantage of President Walbridge's absence, why does he not let this whole thing lay over until the next regular meeting, when Mr. Walbridge will be present?"

"Because," said Acting President Sloan, quietly, "if a vote for reconsideration is not taken to-night, under the rules it cannot then be taken at all."

Mr. Cole rebuked Mr. Hoolan for trying to shield Collector Ziegenhein in that way, and said he was surprised that any friend of the Collector's should oppose an investigation. He, Cole, had known Ziegenhein for twenty-five years, and knew him to be an honest man who should not fear investigation.

Mr. Anderson said that no one had attacked Collector Ziegenhein's integrity or honesty. The Anderson resolution had asked for certain figures from the Collector's dramshop license records for the purpose of discovering if the city was getting the full revenue to which it was rightfully entitled. He proposed only to get a report such as that resolution had asked for.

Mr. Arnstein also disclaimed any intention of attacking Collector Ziegenhein's honesty. He stated that he had voted to adopt the Collector's report as satisfactory under the impression that it contained the names of the reported 1,800 saloon keepers as asked for in the Anderson resolution. He had since learned that it contained only 163 names, and he did not consider such a report either complete or satisfactory. Mr. James also protested that the Council investigation cast no reflections on Mr. Ziegenhein's character.

Mr. Hoolan rose in rage at these "expressions of confidence" so strongly mingled with a desire to investigate Collector Ziegenhein. He waived his right arm angrily toward Mr. Anderson and shouted that he saw no reason why a man should come with horns on his head to toss things about in this way without cause. Collector Ziegenhein was doing his duty and would continue to do it. He was all right, and no man could say aught against his character. The Council had asked the Collector for a certain statement, and the statement had been made. It had been accepted by a unanimous vote of the Council as "complete and satisfactory." For Heaven's sake, why not let it rest there?

"Question!" shouted some councilman, and Mr. Hoolan sank back in his chair, puffing and indignant. Mr. Bensieck got right alongside him and the two defenders of the tottering Ziegenhein bridge rubbed noses together for a few moments in a whispered conference.

"Are you ready for the question, gentlemen?" asked Vice-President Sloan.

"Question!"

The roll was then called and the vote on the motion for a reconsideration of the vote on the Ziegenhein report at the preceding meeting was then announced as follows:

For reconsideration—Anderson, Cole, Flesh, James, Arnstein, Cullinane, Wehner, Horton and Vice-President Sloan.

Against—Bensieck and Hoolan.

In announcing his own vote Vice-President Sloan said:

SLOAN'S EXPLANATION.

"I wish to state that in voting in favor of a reconsideration, and of again taking up Collector Ziegenhein's report, my vote is not intended to be at all derogatory to Collector Ziegenhein. I consider that the City Collector has nothing to hide, and that, therefore, an investigation should only result in reflecting credit upon his management of his office."

Then the Chair announced that the motion to reconsider had been carried.

"Now, gentlemen," said Mr. Anderson, rising, with a faint smile on his face, "as I do not desire to take any advantage of President Walbridge, who is prevented from being present to-night, I shall ask that no further action on the City Collector's report be taken until he can be present. I move, therefore, that further action be deferred until the next regular meeting by the Council."

The motion carried and after the transaction of other business the Council adjourned until next Tuesday night. Councilman Anderson was seen by POST-DISPATCH reporter and said:

"I think I shall be able to convince the Council that its acceptance of Collector Zeigenhein's report as complete and satisfactory was a somewhat remarkable action. But I want President Walbridge to be present when I do so, as it was on his motion that the report was so accepted, and he should be given opportunity to defend his action and to explain wherein he found the report satisfactory. There is no need to discuss the subject further at present. What facts and figures I may have will be presented first to the Council."

SUED FOR REMONSTRATING.

ZIEGENHEIN'S WAY OF SILENCING THOSE WHO OBJECT TO HIS SYSTEM.

Collector Ziegenhein has been treating the real estate license fees just as loosely as he has all the others. He has made some of the agents pay, and let others go free. The consequence is that while about half the 267 dealers have paid the license which is now due; the other half have not paid. Some of those who have not paid have made a firm resolve that they will not till a process of law forces them, and more are waiting to see what the others will do. At best, the Collector's office will now have difficulty in collecting all the licenses when all of them might have been easily obtained had the work been done efficiently from the first.

From the time the Collector went into office the real estate licenses were collected in such a way as to lead many of the agents to belive there was favoritism in the matter.

The license is $100. Agent after agent went into business and paid no license, and it finally got so well known that a large number of them had that $100 advantage over their competitors that all the men who were paying grew restive.

CALLED ON THE COLLECTOR.

One day Leon L. Hull met Adam Boeck on the street. "Suppose we form a committee and go down and complain about this thing to Mr. Ziegenhein," said Mr. Hull.

"Well, I believe it's wrong," said Mr. Boeck. "I'll go with you."

The two dropped in the offices of Percy & Vallet and Smith & Anglen and persuaded these gentlemen to join them in their complaint. They went down and saw the Collector. They told him they had always paid their licenses and intended to continue doing it, but they believed that he should assess all the real estate agents and collect all that was due the city.

"Here's some paper," said the Collector. "You gentlemen give me the names of those you know are not paying licenses and I'll collect from them."

"Why, we wouldn't feel at liberty to do that," said Mr. Hull. "There's the directory. Take that and collect from all the men who are put down there as real estate agents."

Collector Ziegenhein said somewhat peremptorily then that he could attend to his collecting himself, and dismissed the delegation. The gentlemen who had called on him believed that he was getting up a list of the agents, when suddenly they read one afternoon in the POST-DISPATCH that they had been sued for not paying their license fees. Their indignation may be imagined. They never knew and never asked whether Collector Ziegenhein had wreaked a spite upon them for calling his attention to his duty. They went down to the office and paid their licenses, but the undeserved humiliation to which they had been subjected rankled in their minds.

SUGGESTIONS NOT WANTED.

Mr. Hall and Mr. Boeck, both expressed themselves resentfully to-day upon the subject. Both said that they should pay their license fees in the future and let Collector Ziegenhein collect or not, just as he pleased, from the other agents.

Another agent went down to Collector Ziegenhein's office this week to pay his license, and while he was there he remonstrated with the Collector about the loose system of collecting this class of fees. The Collector showed him a list. "Put down here the men you know haven't paid," he said.

"I won't do anything of the kind," returned the agent. "I'm in the real estate business. Make your deputies do that."

After the Unlicensed Saloons.

Col. John I. Martin appeared in the Second District Police Court to-day in behalf of Hugo Zeller, the saloon keeper of 621 North Sixth street, and took a continuance until the 11th inst. This is the second time the case has been laid over, and Mr. Martin said it was taken to have time to secure a license. There are two cases against Zeller, brought by the police. Officers Maguire and Race and Detective Burke are the prosecuting witnesses in the first, and Officer Sullivan in the second.

The two cases against John McGillicuddy for not having a liquor license were continued until Saturday at the instance of the defense, who called for a jury. McGillicuddy threatened personal vengeance on those who are pursuing him, and was in a great rage while in court.

Gus Joenschke and Ed Michel, charged with not having a license, had their case nolle prosequied on presentation of their license.

Two Slop-Carriers Fined.

Fourteen slop-hauling cases were tried in the First District Police Court this morning and two offenders fined $5 each. The other cases were either nolle prosequied or dismissed.

The charges were brought under two sections of the city ordinances, one making it a misdemeanor to haul slop without a permit from the Board of Health and the other for hauling slop in receptacles without a proper covering to prevent bad odors.

The section regarding the necessity for a permit from the Board of Health has been declared unconstitutional by Judge Morris and all cases under it dismissed. The only offenders who were found guilty of not having the proper coverings were Edward Overstreet and Wm. Bergman, and they were fined $25 each. The other offenders, whose cases were dismissed, were Thomas Carr, Wm. Priesmeyer, Fred Holste, Paul Schneibel, Herman Bergman, John Isaacs and William Meyers.

A Child's Fall.

Agnes Scholz, the 3-year-old daughter of Dora Scholz, living at 3507 North Ninth street, had a most remarkable fall yesterday afternoon at the family residence, and escaped serious injury. The child is a very lively little body and, while playing in the garret she thought she would take a view of the outside world. She climbed out of the attic window to the roof, and, unable to retain her equilibrium on the slanting shingles, she slid and went over the edge, falling a distance of about twenty-five feet. In what position the child struck the pavement is not known, as no one saw her fall, but her mother heard the screams and picked the young one up. Dr. Henry Summa was called and after examining the child carefully he found several bruises on her head and a bruise on the left knee, but he was surprised to find no serious injury and said the baby would not die of her wounds.

M'GUIRE MOURNS.

His Wife and $600 of His Money Have Disappeared.

THE WOMAN SUPPOSED TO HAVE ELOPED WITH A PEDDLER.

They Were Seen to Depart Together in a Cab—The Sanity of Frederick Strauss, the Bomb-Thrower, Questioned—Louis Smith Badly Beaten Up—Webster-McCoy Case.

Mike Maguire, "the lunchman," is in sore distress. He has lost his wife and $600, and, to make matters worse, she has run away to Chicago with a supposed friend of his, or at least he thinks so. Maguire was at the depot last night and this morning searching all the trains and the waiting-rooms, swearing vengeance and all manner of dire calamities if he found the runaway pair. Maguire has a small restaurant on Fourteenth near Chestnut street and a lunch stand at Thirteenth and Chestnut streets. He has been doing a good business for some time, and by practicing economy he managed to lay by $600. It was his intention to launch out in the restaurant business on a large scale in a short time. He and his wife Mollie lived in a suite of rooms over the restaurant on Fourteenth street and were apparently very happy. Several months ago a young man, fairly well dressed and as good looking if not handsomer than Michael, made his appearance in the neighborhood selling some kind of salve. He sold a box of it to Mrs. Maguire and she seemed to like it so well she called him in a few days later. His visits became quite frequent, but not regular enough to arouse Maguire's suspicion. Last Monday night, when he went upstairs to see his wife he did not find her. Some of her clothes were gone and his trunk was open. The truth flashed on him at once and he looked into the trunk where he kept his savings. His money—$600—was gone. He made inquiries in the neighborhood and was told his wife was seen getting into a cab at the corner with a young man and the cab driver hurried away. He supposed his wife had deserted him and had gone to live somewhere in the city with the stranger, who, he was told, bore the name of McLean. Being unable to locate his wife, he went to the depot and inquired of Detectives Smith and Ziegler if they had seen a couple, which he then described. Ziegler knew Mrs. Maguire and told the husband he had seen his wife call at the depot Monday night with a young man in a cab. She remained in the cab while he went into the depot and bought two tickets for Chicago. She paid the cab driver from a roll of bills which she took from some recess by stooping down and raising her skirts a trifle. When Maguire heard this he became greatly excited. He bought a ticket for Chicago and will leave the city to-night. He says the man who ran away with his wife has relations in Detroit and he intends to follow the pair there and make trouble.

The McCoy-Webster Fight.

The Commercial Building slugging case was tried in the Court of Criminal Correction this morning, Attorney J. Barry Webster, represented by Chester H. Krum, being the prosecuting witness and John C. McCoy, the defendant, represented by Charles F. Joy. The case created no little interest, because of the prominence of the principal actors and of the prominence of the place where the provocation for the trial occurred. Mr. McCoy whipped Mr. Webster because Mr. Webster had written him a letter calling him a great many unpleasant names and agreeing to lick him on sight without assistance. Mr. McCoy met Mr. Webster in the hall on the second floor of the Commercial Building, and then they had words, after the words they had a fight, and McCoy was not licked.

Mr. Webster testified that between 2 and 3 o'clock, he stepped out of the elevator on the second floor of the Commercial Building and as he passed the door of Dr. Broome's office, he was kicked and tripped from behind. He turned and saw that it was McCoy. He tried to ward off the blows, but could not, and then he was kicked twice in the face, one of the kicks breaking his nose. Then he did not remember anything until he was hit on the cheek by McCoy who had him down on the floor.

Mr. E. J. Russell testified that he saw Mr. McCoy after the fight at the door on Sixth street, as he was leaving. He saw then that he had a small penknife open in his hand. He followed the defendant and had him arrested on the street car between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Frank Scott, the barber in the Commercial Building, said he heard a noise out in the hall and rushed out to see what was going on, and saw Mr. McCoy strike Mr. Webster in the face a couple of times. Mr. McCoy was asked why he did not stop the fight, and said: "I thought they ought to be stopped, but it was a white man's fight, and there were a lot of white men around, so I did not want to interfere."

Dr. Broome said he heard two men outside talking, and heard one of them suggest that it was not a proper place to fight. Then he saw the two clinch and fall with Mr. Webster underneath. Then some one called out to quit biting. Then Mr. McCoy got up, hit Webster a couple of blows with his fist, and then let him alone.

Judge Beyle said he saw Mr. McCoy and Mr. Webster talking together in the hall, and then he went into Scott's barber shop. After he got in there he heard a row in the hall.

Mr. McCoy said he met Mr. Webster in the hall of the Commercial Building after having received two communications from him. The first communication was a letter and the second a verbal message sent through the collector. The letter sent by Webster was introduced in evidence and read as follows:

John C. McCoy, 3420 Lindell avenue, City.

DEAR SIR—I want you to call on me without unnecessary delay and make apology for the insult offered me Sunday last. If you do not do so within a reasonable time I will call on you and take the apology out of your sniveling carcass. Your course of action toward your benefactors is something which would admit of an explanation—in short, your actions lately have been those of a cur and a coward. My father saved you from the Poor-house, or the Work-house when you were an object of charity. Through him you secured the money to start your business on, which loan you could not have secured but upon his guaranty that it would be paid back; my home was open to you and you were received there as an honest and respectable person, a mistake which I am sorry occurred. You obtained money from me upon false representations; you secured $2 from me on my mother's account after she had paid it, and here the other day you had the supreme nerve to send in a bill for it after having received payment twice—a most honorable and honest procedure. A common sneak thief would not have done that. Then to cap the climax you attempt to blackmail me in the presence of ladies, and had it not been for them I would have thrashed you then and there. Blackmail is a crime—it is bad enough from an ordinary man, but when attempted by a hostler and hack driver, it is worse, and should not go unpunished. If you think you can work any of your pickpocket games on me, you are much mistaken in your person. I have often wondered why, when you see me or anyone of us on the street, you stick down your head and sneak away or dodge into some store. I can understand it now. Now bear this in mind: I intend to obtain an apology from you, by force, if necessary. If I am not able to do so myself, I will be assisted; but knowing your cowardly nature and that you are afraid to look me in the face, I don't think I need any aid. My office is No. 216 Commercial Building. I can be found either there or at the St. Louis Trust Co. GEORGE BARRY WEBSTER.
St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 31, 1891.

The letter the prosecuting witness admitted having written.

McCoy said he did no kicking or biting, but fought fair after having exchanged words with Mr. Webster.

The collector for the livery stable said that Mr. Webster referred to the letter, and said he meant what was said in it.

Judge Claiborn said that the letter justified the defendant in thrashing the prosecuting witness within an inch of his life had it been acted upon immediately, but in delaying the case so long the letter could not be taken as a direct provocation.

The defendant was fined $10 and costs.

Strange Family Relations.

John Krill appeared in the Court of Criminal Correction this morning as the prosecuting witness against his two sons for stealing $140 in money from him. The father testified that he kept a saloon on Second Carondelet and Russell avenues, and while he was asleep upstair the boys broke into the wardrobe, stole the money and hid under the bed with it. The mother testified that the younger boy, aged 13, opened the door for the older, aged 16, and that the two then went over to their father's bed to see if he was asleep, and finding him so, stole the money. The eldest boy, aged 16, said that he stole the money but did it under great necessity. He had been sick about two months before with a sore arm from blood poisoning. His father drove him out of the house, saying he cost too much for a doctor. So he went to the hospital and stayed there until they discharged him. Then he went home, still disabled, to get his clothes, but was refused admittance. His mother and father had a fight that night, and when his father drove his mother out into the yard he went up stairs and, finding the money, took it to keep himself from starving until he could find work to support himself. Judge Claiborne said it was a very sad condition of affairs to have parents prosecuting a son under such circumstances, but as the theft was proven and admitted he was compelled to hold the boy in $500 bail.

She Harrangued the Crowd.

Sergt. Cummins saw a crowd gathered on Ninth and Olive streets about 10 o'clock to-day listening to the harrangue of a woman who was telling her tale of woe in a loud tone of voice. He placed the woman under arrest and took her to the City Dispensary as she was apparently insane. She said her name was Catharine O'Meara, that she was 55 years of age and lived at the Widows' Home in the Flannery building. Her brother died a short time ago she said; her brother died leaving her some property and she called in an office at Tenth and Olive streets to get the deeds, but the office boys put her out. She stood outside and told her supposed wrongs to the crowd. Dr. Priest examined the woman and declared her insane. She was removed to the Four Courts holdover and to-morrow she will be sent to the asylum.

Pleas of Guilty.

Six months in the Work-house was the sentence imposed on each defendant, William Behan and Henry Jackson, who were arraigned in the Criminal Court this morning, charged with burglary and larceny. On Nov. 29, 1891, they broke into the store of J. Krouse, 19 South Sixth street, and stole nine pairs of pants, nineteen shirts, nine umbrellas and one valise, valued at $25. They both entered pleas of guilty to petit larceny and were sentenced as stated.

James Keys, an old-time law breaker who has the reputation of being a thief, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of grand larceny in the Criminal Court and was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years. On Dec. 14, 1891, he stole $50 worth of clothing from William A. Fauber of 4204 North Grand avenue.

He Was Badly Beaten.

Louis Smith of 2013 Franklin avenue applied for a warrant this morning charging Charles Towser, a master carpenter, with assault and battery. Smith says he went to a house in course of construction at Brown avenue and King's highway, to put in a mantel and grate. There he met a man who he thinks is Towser, who was engaged in building a porch in front of the house. Towser told him he could not go over the porch, but as all the windows and doors were closed Smith could get in no other way. He says Towser struck him in the face and cut his nose, lip and chin when he stepped on the porch and he beat a retreat. Mr. Estep refused to grant a warrant, as Smith did not know positively who was the man who struck him.

Bomb Thrower's Sanity Questioned.

The case of Frederick Straus, the bomb thrower who tried to blow up Miller's bakery on Fourth and Spruce streets some time ago, was continued until the 20th of this month in the Court of Criminal Correction. Judge Claiborne has stated that he will refuse to allow the man to be released on bond, as the defense proposes to establish a defense on the plea of insanity and he cannot in consequence give bond to a man claimed to be insane. Straus, it will be remembered, was a discharged employe of Miller's and sought revenge by resorting to dynamite in the shape of a bomb. He succeeded in partially damaging the building, and was arrested some time later.

They Played William Tell.

Charles Grupp, a 10-year-old boy living with his parents at 1241 South Seventh street, and Henry Zimmer, a 12-year-old boy living at 509 Rutger street, were playing with a small spring rifle yesterday morning in the rear of Charley's house. Charley suggested that they play William Tell and his son. Charley agreed to take the part of Tell's son while Henry should do the shooting. Placing a small object on his head Charles stood off a few paces and Henry shot at him. The bullet, a lead missile, smaller than a pea, struck Charles in the back of the head and remained there. Dr. Hauck found the ball and extracted it. The parents of Charles refused to prosecute the marksman and he was not arrested.

A Candy Peddler Assaulted.

A strange assault was made about 6 o'clock last night on John Barrels, the candy peddler, who drives about town with an open wagon disposing of his wares. He was standing on the corner of Tenth and Pine streets, when a boy about 17 years old struck at him with a knife and cut a gash several inches long in his forehead. He cannot account for the assault, but says he thinks the boy was one of a crowd whom he beat a few evenings ago while they were trying to steal candy from his wagon.

Where Is John McMahen?

Mrs. John McMahen of 4010 North Ninth street called at the Four Courts to-day and asked the police to find her husband, John, who left the house at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, saying he was going to the Union Depot. He did not go to the depot, and she has not seen him since. She is at a loss to account for his absence, and is very anxious to hear from him.

Cut in the Face.

Patrick Brady, a boarder at the Erie House, 606 Market street, got into a fight with an unknown man in a saloon on Fourteenth and Pine streets about 2 o'clock this morning, and in the struggle he was cut in the face. The unknown man escaped, and Brady was removed to the Dispensary.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

City Sewerage West of Grand Avenue.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

All who are interested in the city's welfare, present or prospective, must recognize the necessity of the thorough drainage of that part of our city north of Forest Park and east of Grand avenue, which has heretofore only been unsatisfactorily supplied by surface drainage.

I would suggest the wisest, and in the longrun the most economic outlay, would be to open a deep sewer, commencing at low water mark at the river front in the region of Washington avenue or Market street and blast a tunnel through the rocks, with the proper fall, and project it in a straight line, irrespective of street or block, in a westwardly direction, under all water pipes, sewers, the tunnel and our prominent buildings, and carry it as far as King's highway or Union avenue, westwardly, making it like the prominent sewer of Paris, large enough in addition to all sewerage demands, for water mains, gas mains, pneumatic tubes, and electric cables.

When this is completed, it could be made a good outlet to over-taxed sewers, general or special, as the emergencies demand.

That region may be liable at any time to the scourge that Cote Brilliante went through many years ago when death claimed the young children of many of her most prominent families, despite the best efforts of our most skilled physicians.

Car Rates for Pupils.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Many pupils who cannot walk the distance to our high schools must use the cars as a means of transit, and being generally above the age, pay full fare, which in time amounts to quite an expense. Would you, therefore, use your powerful influence to give special rates to high school pupils?

I suggest something similar to the pass-book, which could be punched for every ride. Hoping you will take this into consideration, I am A SCHOOL GIRL.

ACTIONS FOR DAMAGES AGGREGATING $39,000 PRESENTED TO-DAY.

A Recent Decision of the State Supreme Court and Its Bearing on the Cases Against the Wabash Company—What the Petitions State—Affidavits of the Injured—Mrs. Mueller's Claim.

Four additional suits were filed to-day in the Circuit Court against the Wabash Railroad Co. growing out of the sleighing accident at the Sarah street crossing on the night of Dec. 19, which resulted in the instant death of eight persons and the injury of a number of others. The petitions were presented by Attorney J. Frank Merryman, who filed the actions already pending in the court. The statements have been prepared with much care and are all alike, save in the description of the injuries. The plaintiffs in the suit are Mary Mueller, widow of Albert Mueller, who was killed outright, and Chas. J. Behrens, Robert H. Beckley and Emil P. Haupt, who sustained injuries. Mrs. Mueller asks $5,000; Beckley, $15,000; Haupt, $12,000, and Behrens, $7,000. The last named was only slightly injured and this is why he does not place his damages as high as Beckley and Haupt. The affidavits of Haupt, Beckley and Behrens, in substance, are as follows:

CHARACTER OF INJURIES.

Emil P. Haupt states, among other things, that the defendant ran its locomotive and car upon the sleigh and horses which plaintiff and driver were in and then and there negligently and carelessly threw plaintiff about twenty feet from the ground, which caused him to fall on the cab of the engine, breaking his right shoulder and collar-bone, also bruising his elbow and breaking his ribs on the right side of his body, the said bruises extending down the side of his thigh, from the effects of which his body has become bruised and wounded, from which he has suffered great pain, both in body and mind, and has become injured for life, and in consequence of which he has been confined to his room and still is unable to perform any manual labor and rendered wholly unable to attend to any business.

Robert H. Beckley states that the defendant ran its locomotive and car upon the sleigh and horses which plaintiff and the driver were in, and then and there negligently and carelessly threw plaintiff about 25 feet from the ground which caused him to fall on the edge of the cab of the engine, in which position he was carried about 1,500 feet, and greatly bruising him both internally and externally, and straining his ankles and injuring and paralyzing his limbs and affected his spine, so that he was and is now unable to move without great pain of body and limbs, and thereby injuring him for life, in consequence of which he has been rendered helpless and unfit for any manual labor, and wholly unable to attend to any business.

Chas. J. Behrens states that defendant ran its locomotive and car upon the sleigh and horses which plaintiff and the driver were in, and then and there negligently and carelessly threw plaintiff out of the sleigh about twenty-five feet on the snow and lamed and bruised his left arm and discolored the same above the elbow joint and paralyzed the said left arm, in consequence of which it was badly swollen, and also bruised the central part of plaintiff's back and the left side, and tore away the skin from the right knee and bruised and mangled the same, and cut and bruised his head in several places, and in consequence of the bruises and injuries aforesaid, and the frost and snow that was on the ground and in the air, and plaintiff's physical inability to take care of himself his ears were frozen and frost bitten before he could obtain assistance and relief, and from the injuries aforesaid and the exposure arising therefrom he was so bruised and exposed to the cold frost and snow to such an extent that he has been paralyzed in his body and lamed in his legs and caused to suffer great pain and anguish and injured for life.

GROUNDS FOR ACTION.

In the petition Attorney Merryman sets forth that Sec. 1224 of the city ordinances requires railroad companies to station watchmen with signals at all intersecting improved streets. The ordinances regulating the speed and requiring the ringing of the locomotive bells are also given in full in the petition. The conclusion is drawn in each that the railroad company's violation of the law was the cause of the Sarah street disaster, and judgments are accordingly asked.

The trial of these cases will certainly attract considerable attention, and a big legal battle is expected. The aggregate amount involved is large, and the first or test case will be stubbornly contested.

The counsel for the plaintiffs start into the litigation with an air of confidence, furnished largely by a decision recently given by the Supreme Court, in which all of the judges concurred except Chief Justice Sherwood. This decision was given in the case of Kenney against the Hannibal & St. Joe railroad, taken up on an appeal by the company from Clinton County.

A SIMILAR CASE.

The case in many respects is similar to that resulting from the Sarah street crossing disaster. Kenney was driving across the tracks in a buggy with his wife when a locomotive struck the conveyance and killed Mrs. Kenney. The crossing was so situated that he could not see whether or not there was a train coming until he reached a point a few feet from the tracks. When he did see the train it was too late to avert the catastrophe which followed.

Judge Barclay, who prepared the opinion, among other things says:

It will be noted that the plaintiff stopped twice to listen for a train, first at a distance of 120 feet and afterwards at 90 feet from the track. He heard nothing. Assuming the truth of his evidence (as the present status of the litigation requires) it is obvious, that if the signal had been given by defendant, he would have been warned of the coming train in time to escape harm. His course after his second stop, lay along the line which did not permit a view of a train until very near the track, according to his personal evidence, until within a few feet of it, and according to other evidence in his behalf until twenty-one feet from it. When he, seated in the buggy, drawn by a double team, was at that distance, the horses necessarily were much closer to (probably within ten feet of) the rails, and moving forward at a brisk walk. He turned toward the west, looking for a train, and seeing none, turned eastward and discovered the engine close upon him. His horses were then nearly across the rails, so he struck them at once to hurry them forward, but the buggy did not clear the track in time to escape disaster, and the injuries followed as stated. Here plaintiff seems to have been looking and listening for danger at various points along the road. He could not look both ways at the same time. When he reached the first point of clear observation, it so happened that he looked west first on reaching it instead of east, and that when he looked east in passing over the short space to the track, it was too late to be of any avail. But his action in the premises was not such as to indicate such recklessness or want of caution as would constitute negligence as a matter of law. We are not prepared to say that his conduct was different from what the man of average prudence would do in the same circumstances. He was under no legal obligation to shape his action on the theory that the defendant would disregard the plain requirements of law respecting a signal of its coming train.

THE CAUTION REQUIRED.

As to the amount of caution required, Judge Barclay says:

The true legal rule is that one approaching a railway crossing must exercise reasonable and ordinary prudence to avoid the dangers necessarily to be apprehended there. It may often be that a failure to look and listen for a coming train, will be such obvious negligence as to warrant a court in so declaring, but circumstances may exist in which the failure to look and listen cannot justly be so regarded. No procrustean standard of negligence predicated on a failure to look and listen exists.

Speaking of the suits the attorney for the plaintiffs said to-day: "We will show that the driver did slack up and look and listen for an approaching train. He saw no danger signal and no sign of an aproaching train and started across the track."

More suits are expected in a day or two.

CARLYLE HARRIS GUILTY.

The Jury Declares He Poisoned His Young Wife, Helen Neilson Potts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Carlyle W. Harris is guilty of poisoning his wife. The jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree at 10 o'clock last night. The trial has occupied three weeks in Recorder Smythe's court. Most of the witnesses examined were medical experts, as the main point with the prosecution was to establish the fact that the woman died from poison. The history of the case as it came out at the trial may be briefly stated: On Feb. 1 of last year, Miss Helen Neilson Potts, the daughter of George Potts, a rich railroad contractor living in Ocean Grove, N. J., died in Mrs. Comstock's Finishing School at No. 25 West Fortieth street. She was a beautiful dark-haired girl of 19. One of her frequent visitors at the school was Carlyle W. Harris, a medical student in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and who lived with his grandfather, Dr. B. W. McCready, at No. 28 East Seventeenth street.

Harris and Miss Potts had been secretly married. The mother of the girl learned of it and pressed young Harris to fix a time when the marriage of her child should be made known. That time was close at hand when the young woman died of morphine poisoning. She was buried. Fifteen days later rumors of foul play crept about the Jersey town where the dead girl's home had been, and she was dug up and an autopsy was made. Morphine was found in her system. Then the young man was arrested, the marriage was announced, he admitted having given her capsules of morphine and quinine as a nervine, but he tried to cast the blame of his wife's death upon the druggist who prepared the capsules upon Harris' prescription. The prosecution made the points, evidently to the satisfaction of the jury, that Harris had changed the contents of the capsules which he administered to Miss Potts and had substituted a deadly dose of morphine. The prisoner as he appeared in court is tall and well-formed, and wears an air of refinement. His face is rather square, with a broad forehead. He has a strong jaw and a good chin. His mouth is sensual. His lips are coarse and thick. A newly grown mustache half covers them. He has a good nose. His eyes are deep sunken and concealed by eye-glasses. His forehead is his best feature. His dark hair is parted in the middle and brushed back smoothly. He wears a well-cut suit of black and patent-leather shoes. The black silk four-in-hand tie and the general air of gentility in his dress makes him look like a young society man in mourning. His face is very white, but excitement makes it turn pink.

The trial has been a notable one because of the social standing of the parties concerned and has attracted a crowd every day of the long hearing, many of them women. Some of the women were young and seemed to look upon the proceedings as an enjoyable spectacle. They brought their luncheons and ate them at recess in the court-room.

WORKING FOR GRAVES.

Preparing the Record for the Supreme Court—Mrs. Graves' Condition.

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 3.—Now that the Graves case is before the Supreme Court the attorneys for the condemned man are hard at work preparing the testimony for publication for that court. The entire record goes to the Supreme Court, and then the unimportant is omitted in the part published.

"We intend to hasten the work as rapidly as possible," said Judge Furman. "The record, though, is so voluminous that it is slow work. After this is completed the briefs will be made and all the legal points laid before the court."

Nothing has yet been accomplished as to getting bail. Judge Macon, when questioned on this point, said that outside of capital offenses, a defendant was entitled to bail as a matter of right under the law. As to capital crime it was discretionary with the court.

Judge Belford, who in the absence of ex-District Attorney Stevens represents the prosecution, reports nothing new. He says that there will be nothing for them to do until the defense has fully prepared their case.

The condition of Mrs. T. Thatcher Graves, who has been sick at the Vallejo since the verdict, is more serious. There has never been but little, if any, improvement in her mental condition, but she was better physically for a while. But during the past few days she has grown worse again. She is so weak that she has not the strength to raise food to her mouth. She has to be fed. Her appetite, which for a while improved, is gone. It is difficult to get her to eat anything. She still pitifully calls for Dr. Graves. She always speaks of him as "Tom." No one has yet dared tell her that her husband has been sentenced to death. She knows that he is in Canon City, but does not realize the situation. A friend tried to explain to her about the supersedeas granted by the Supreme Court. She could not understand it, especially as the death sentence could not be explained in connection with it. At times she becomes almost frantic, and exclaims: "They have hung Tom. I know they have, or he would come to me." Then again she calls for "Tom," and has the attendants stop and listen for his coming. "Listen! Listen!" she often exclaims, as she hears a footstep in the hallways of the Vallejo.

AN OLD CHAIR.

A Piece of Furniture Over 100 Years Old Owned in St. Louis.

Mr. E. S. Pike of No. 807 North Third street has at his office a very interesting and ancient heirloom. It is a chair, maple and hand made. It was a wedding present to his grandfather, Mr. Samuel Pike of Coldwell, N. Y., who was married in 1784 and settled down to a life of peace after eight years of war in the cause of his country. Mr. E. S. Pike procured the chair a year ago, when on a visit to his ancestral home at the death of his mother. The chair was sadly marked by the hand of time, and was worn very much. But he had the still serviceable bit of furniture renovated, and now it has all the freshness of a chair fresh from the factory. The chair is not quite as large as the modern article, but it has a curved back, high in proportion to the other parts of the structure.

Mr. Pike says that his grandfather entered the revolutionary army in 1776, and passed through all the battles of the revolution. He was mustered out in 1784. He became a Mason at Arlington Heights, Va., in 1784, while still in the army, and Gen. George Washington was the Acting Grand Master of the lodge.

A COMMUNITY SHOCKED.

Mechanics at Work on a New Church on Sunday.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—A dispatch from Rockford, Ill., says: Quite a stir in religious circles here has been occasioned by the disclosure of the fact that work has been done in the interior of the new Second Congregational Church on Sunday. The church is a $10,000 edifice and was to have been completed in December. The contractor is behind and is crowding the work. For several Sabbaths artisans have been at work behind locked doors, but the fact caused a shock among religious people and broad smiles among the ungodly, who are mean enough to remind their Congregational brethren that resolutions have been passed by their church asking that the World's Fair be closed on Sunday. The church people deny any knowledge of the charges.

WORLD'S FAIR POST-OFFICE.

Plans About Completed—Scope of the Undertaking.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Post-office Inspector Stoddard has practically completed his investigations for the plans of a World's Fair Post-office. He will probably return to Washington to-day and lay the results of his work before the Post-office Department. Although Inspector Stoddard is not permitted to make public the work accomplished it is known that his plans contemplate a Post-office at the World's Fair grounds which will not only be ample in capacity to accommodate the 150,000 exhibitors, but will be a post-office which would do credit to any of the larger cities in the United States. The employes will number between 400 and 500 and it is believed that Inspector Stoddard will recommend that the office, instead of having a Postmaster, be placed under the control of Postmaster Sexton. The plans for the Post-office will be drawn by Architect Ed Brook of the Treasury Department. Inasmuch as the work of construction is so far advanced on World's Fair buildings the Post-office will probably be inclosed into the Government building.

SUNKEN WEALTH.

An Expert Diver Will Try to Raise the Pewabic.

ALPENA, Mich., Feb. 3.—M. F. Chalk, an expert diver of Detroit, has arrived here to attempt to locate and raise the wreck of the Pewabic, which sank in Thunder Bay in 120 feet of water 25 years ago. Four attempts have been made to raise the vessel, in each of which the diver lost his life. The depth at which the work was to be done was so great and the consequent pressure of the icy waters was so enormous that life was squeezed out. Chalk has behind him several wealthy men who pay him $1,000 for the attempt, guaranteeing his life insurance in case he dies and in case they are able to bring up the wreck they agree to divide the cargo equally with him. The Pewabic is loaded with pig copper valued at $165,000. The diver has had a helmet made that will resist a pressure of 450 pounds to the square inch.

Gift to a College.

FRANKLIN, Ind., Feb. 3.—John Clarke, President of the National Bank of this city, has made a gift of $20,000 in cash and real estate to the Hanover (Ind.) College for the purpose of establishing a new professorship which will probably be styled the "Ezra and Charles Clarke Chair of History and Political Science," in memory of the young men named.

JOHN W. LOADER, hatter, removed to 517 Olive st. Sole agt. celebrated "Dunlap hat."

South Dakota Coal.

YANKTON, S. D., Feb. 3.—Carl Johnson, a stranger, presented himself at the United States Land Office in this city yesterday and in the name of himself and associates made mineral filings upon four entire sections of land, two in Yankton County and two in Turner County. He claims to be a coal mine expert and says there is an abundance of coal in the section if it can only be brought to the surface. This land has been filed upon before, but the filings have recently been canceled by the Interior Department. The local office declined to receive the filings without further investigation of the titles of the land. This will doubtless revive the excitement of a year ago about coal in this county, and if Johnson's theory has any foundation in fact, trouble may be expected in deciding who owns the lands.

MILK CRUST ON BABY

Kept Spreading Until His Face Was a Raw Sore. He Scratched Until Blood Ran.

Best Physicians Said No Cure While Teething. He Was Cured Promptly by Cuticura.

Something over two years ago our boy, then less than 1 year old, was troubled with an eruption on his head, pronounced by our best physicians to be a case of "milk crust or infantile eczema." They also said that it would be impossible to cure it until after he had finished teething. This malady kept spreading until his face was a raw sore, and every few days he would draw his finger nails down on both cheeks, removing the scales, and the blood running down on his chin made him present a ghastly sight. We commenced using CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in two weeks we noticed a wonderful improvement, and in two months his face was fresh and fair, and has been perfectly well ever since. We unhesitatingly give all credit to CUTICURA.

C. B. WILLIAMS, Fort Dodge, Io.

Scaly Humor 17 Years

I was afflicted for seventeen years with a scaly and blotchy humor over my entire breast. At times I would scratch till soreness compelled me to cease. After reading your advertisements at different times, I concluded to give CUTICURA a trial, and, to my astonishment as well as satisfaction, I was cured with one set of CUTICURA REMEDIES, in about two and a half weeks. That has been nearly two years since, and no symptoms of return.

USE POND'S EXTRACT for Muscular Rheumatism

WHAT THE DOCTOR SAYS:

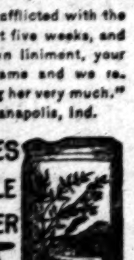

A PROMINENT NEW YORK PHYSICIAN GIVES THIS ADVICE FOR THE CURE OF MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM:

"Be regular in your habits, eat and drink only what you need. If the intestinal action is sluggish take a course of cathartics or some form of diuretic water to carry off the wastes of the body through the kidneys. Have the painful muscles rubbed thoroughly, frequently and fervently, using some soothing lotion. I like POND'S EXTRACT for such conditions, and it will promptly take out the soreness."

WHAT THE PATIENT SAYS:

"My wife has been afflicted with the rheumatism for the past five weeks, and after using every known liniment, your POND'S EXTRACT came and we rejoice to say it is helping her very much."

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain.

Wheat—General liquidation commanded the situation this morning and before the dumping was over ⅝@¾c was sliced off yesterday's closing price and May was considerably below 90c. The reaction from this early tumble was only ⅜c and was followed by another break of ⅜c and by further liquidation and ⅜c reaction from that. The close had buyers ⅜c below yesterday. Following the past two days' depression and downward tendency and winding up with a late curb yesterday at 90c, the market opened up this morning illy prepared for bear factors. And it got them, as the boys would say, right in the neck. All the early cables repeated the old story of dullness and declines, receipts continued unseasonably large, the weather pleasant and growing milder, and every domestic market sliding downward. Already badly rattled and discouraged, the black outlook caused the few longs left to throw their wheat, and the selling was lively for a while. The buying was just as lively, however, and the larger part at opening said to be for export account, the market soon steadying under the good demand. No encouraging news or features, however, came to the rescue—seaboard clearances only 43,000 pkgs flour and 248,000 bu wheat and private cables coming lower and dull—and another weak spot developed and a quick break brought out further long selling, some of which reported was for European account. The market was firmer after this last decline and there was quite a fight around "put" price, but all was put at close.

FUTURES—March sold at 88c. May opened at 90c and sold to 89⅝c to 90c to 89⅛c to 89⅛c and at close 89⅛@⅜c bid. July sold at 85⅛c to 84⅝c and at close offered at 84⅝c.

SPOT GRADES—Lower, and on Call was flat as a pancake, the extreme weakness holding buyers off and bids generally far below what sellers asked. After Call a few sales made to local millers and for shipment and also for accumulation. No. 2 red 1⅛c lower for regular at 86¾c, but other sales at 87c. No. 3 red sold both this and E. side at 84½c, declines of ½@1c. No. 4 winter ½c lower at 80½c this side. Rejected offered at 71c, no bid. No. 3 hard winter sold E. side 1c lower at 78c, and same bid for St. L. No. 2 do 79½c bid for St. L. and E. side, and No. 2 spring offered at 80½c. No. 4 hard winter offered at 74c, bid 72c.

Sales: No. 2 red—3 cars regular at 86¾c, 1 car in C. and 8,000 bu this and E. side at 87c. No. 3 red—2 cars in St. L. at 85c, 3 cars in C. and 2 E. side at 84½c. No. 4 winter—3 cars in C. at 80½c. No. 3 hard winter—8 cars E. side at 78c. No. 2 spring—1 car this side at 79c. 5,000 bu No. 3 red late at 84½c.

SAMPLES—Receipts, 42 cars and 353 sks. Dead dull and dragging; there was little or no demand for the light offerings even at 1½c decline it was almost impossible to make sales as buyers were indifferent. Sales: Special bin—1 car rejected at 70c, 1 do at 72c, 2 do E. side at 73c, 1 No. 4 hard at 76½c, 1 No. 4 winter at 81½c, 1 No. 3 red at 85c. Track this side—1 car rejected at 73c, 1 No. 4 winter and 1 No. 2 spring at 81c, 3 No. 3 red f. o. b. at 84½c. Track East side—1 car rejected at 73c, 1 No. 3 red at 86c.

Corn—Considering the extreme weakness in wheat, this market held up remarkably well. The weather was fine as silk and cable advices were of dull and weak markets abroad, but the decline in Liverpool was only ⅛d. Receipts, though still large, were nearly all for the seaboard, 217 cars going through of the 380 cars received. Exports from the seaboard were smaller—233,000 bu from three ports. The cash market was weaker, late cables still lower and the country was selling freely. These weakened the market and the close was ⅛c below yesterday.

FUTURES—Feb. sold at 36⅛c and March at 36⅜c and at close both offered at same rates. May opened at 37⅜c and sold to 37⅝@¾c to 37½@⅝c to 37¾c to 37⅜c to 37½c and at close 37½@⅝c asked. Only 39c bid for No. 2 white for May.

SPOT GRADES—Lower for all, save No. 3, and that did not command top rates of yesterday, but it was readily salable to the order trade at 34½c both this and East side. No. 2 sold regular ⅛c lower to a speculative buyer at 36¼c. The milling trade continued to take white grades, No. 2 selling this side at 38½c and 38c bid regular, and No. 3 at 37½c East and 38c this side.

Sales: No. 2—21 cars regular at 36¼c, 1 E. side and 2 in St. L. at 36¼c. No. 3—1 car in St. L., 2 in M., 3 in C. and 3 E. side at 34½c. No. 2 white—1 car in St. L. at 38½c. No. 3 white—3 cars in U. at 37½c, 3 this side at 38c.

SAMPLES—Sales: Track this side—1 car white ear at 39c, 1 do at 40c. East track—1 car No. 2 white f. o. b. at 40c. Sacked lots on orders, 44@46c.

Oats—A little trading in May at 31c was ⅛c better, but at close it was offered at 30¾c and could not be sold.

SPOT GRADES—No. 2 offered regular at 29½c, bid 28¾c for St. L. and C., 28¾c E. side, 29c for M., 29⅛c for A. No. 3 offered E. side at 28¾c, bid 28½c there and for M.

SAMPLES—Fair offerings and little change to note in prices. The demand was not so good, and buyers were more particular in their selections. The mixed grades, owing to the absence of shippers from the markets, were not so strong and the few sales were ¼@⅜c lower. The demand was almost entirely local, none of the order buyers or shippers being in the market. No. 2 sold early at 29c, but at the decline there was a good demand and 29½c paid and bid later. No. 3 brought 28½@28¾c, the former being the best price obtainable at the close. No. 2 white, which was neglected yesterday, found fair sale to-day at 30@30½c, mainly at the inside. No. 3 white brought 29c. No. 2 color had a wide range, selling from 29½c to 30½c. No. 3 color sold at 29c. Sales: Special bin this side—1 car No. 4 at 27½c; 1 No. 3 at 28½c, 1 do at 28¾c, 1 No. 2, 1 No. 3 white and 1 No. 3 color at 29c, 1 No. 2 and 2 No. 2 color at 29¼c, 2 No. 2 color at 29½c, 2 No. 2 white and 7 No. 2 color at 30c, 1 No. 2 white and 2 No. 2 color at 30½c. East side—1 car No. 3 at 28¾c, 1 No. 2 at 29c, 1 Northern mixed at 31c. Track this side—2 cars No. 3 white at 29½c, 1 do at 29¾c, 2 No. 2 white at 30½c. East track—1 car white barley mixed at 29c. Sacked lots on orders 34@35c.

Rye—Grade No. 2 at yesterday's decline, 2 cars regular selling at 78c. No. 3 offered at 72½c, no bid. By sample, 32 sks No. 3 at 72c, 66 No. 2 at 78c del.

Barley—No sales reported, as buyers showed no disposition to take hold. The Brewing Association is being well supplied with contract deliveries, which were quite heavy.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 3.—Barley quiet; cash and March, 56½c.

Flour and Feed.

Flour—The weakness of wheat had a depressing effect on flour and, if possible, caused a still duller market. Sales: 72 bbls at $3.25, 1 car at $4.10 del, 103 bbls at $4.35, 1,600 on p. t.

Rye Flour—Pure jobbing at $4.65@4.75 per bbl.

Buckwheat Flour—Jobbing at $5 ℘ bbl.

Corn Meal—Steady. City meal on orders, $2.05@2.10 per bbl del. Hominy, pearl meal and grits $2.70@2.80.

Bran—Very scant offerings and holders very stiff, but little demand outside the local trade. Yet 70c was bid for East trk. Sales: 1 car bulk this side, p.t.; 1 skd country point at 67c, 1 f.o.b. this side at 69c, 1 do and 85 sks at mill at 70c. Direct orders from near-by points—4 cars skd bran at 70c, 1 middling at 82c.

Hay.

Receipts, 530 tons; shipments, 297 tons. There was again no material change to be noted. The large stocks in store and the daily free receipts, with only a moderate demand, causes buyers, except in cases where they are compelled to have stock to meet their immediate wants to hold back for large concessions, which sellers are not disposed to concede. Any fair offer, however, was generally accepted. Sales this side—1 car mixed at $7.50. Commercial Notes.

This was liquidation day in wheat.

Cotton is once more beginning to break the "lowest on record."

Corn was about the only article that had any style or strength about it.

Wheat looked so shaky that no one had the temerity to go long even one five.

Weather clear and pleasant; 46 degrees at 12 o'clock. Local forecast: Fair; warmer.

New Orleans cleared yesterday 29,400 bu. wheat to Antwerp and 66,000 bu. corn to Bayonne.

May wheat broke 90c. this morning. This is the first time this season this option has sold below this price.

The lower wheat goes the more extensive will be the short line that will be put out, as the bears begin playing on "velvet" and doubling up on their profits.

Bradstreet's visible of wheat decreased 1,036,000 bu and oats 205,000 bu, but corn showed 58,000 bu increase. One year ago the decrease in wheat was 1,840,000 bu.

As about the last of the long wheat was dumped this morning and around 90c, it seems reasonable to suppose that something of a reaction should shortly be in order.

The extensive buying this morning of May wheat at 90c by a broker representing an exporting concern here was explainable when it was learned later that this exporting firm had sold three cargoes of wheat in Paris.

New York wired Geo. H. Small that orders from the other side to buy either cash wheat or corn were very scarce, but the presence in that port of a large line of unchartered freight room will probably lead to some export business being done even if it has to be done for ship's account. Exporters say that corn is nearer a working basis than wheat, so the chances are there will be some corn worked.

John W. Kauffman, behind a beautiful full blown yellow rose and a diamond-eyed and pearl-set golden bear scarf-pin and under latest and glossiest of silk hats, came on the floor this morning in time to see the clearing sale of wheat at 89⅛c. Kauffman of St. Louis and Pardridge of Chicago have been supposed to be the big shorts in wheat. Pardridge claims to have gotten out yesterday. Kauffman is believed to have his line still out and most of it in Chicago.

Beerbohm of Jan. 19, says: At Odessa, according to advices of Jan. 10, the stock of wheat was 532,000 qrs., and that of rye 11,000 qrs. Official advices give the stocks at Nicolaieff as 230,000 qrs. wheat and 8,000 qrs. rye. At Reval the stocks were 860 qrs. wheat and 13,000 qrs. rye. At Riga no wheat, but 200 wagons rye and 400 wagons oats. At Libau no wheat. At Wilna 81,000 qrs. wheat and 175,000 qrs. are. In the caucasus, however, stocks are very large.

H. Kains Jackson says: As to British wheat reserves in farmers' hands, the quantities in both years may be nearly the same, but the quality of the present season is much inferior. It is, however, in regard to other articles besides wheat, that the situation is most abnormal. In the first six months of 1891 the imports were 26,576,000 bu of corn, 22,472,000 bu of oats and 12,448,000 bu of barley. Accordingly, a total of 61,496,000 bu of cattle corn is wanted—say 2,400,000 bu will be wanted weekly to keep up the scanty sale of last season. Towards this bulk in most years, 1889-92, Russia would send 1,200,000 bu. This source is dried up. But as the American corn crop in 1891 greatly exceeds that of 1890, it may be expected that corn will go far to substitute former barley and oats imports.

July wheat sold at 85c this morning. It was at and around 85c that something over a year ago the talent here and elsewhere, their friends, customers, and the world generally, were doubling, tripling and quadrupling the short lines they already had out. Everyone remembers the lesson they received from overlooking an extremely short crop abroad and only seeing the fine crop on this side. The conditions, however, are widely different now from those of one year ago. Europe has bought all the wheat she requires, at any rate, all required up to the present time, has large supplies on hand and coming to her shores and her growing crops are generally in satisfactory condition. This season there has been very little short selling of July wheat, out of respect for that Dec. crop report of the Government, and the absence of any short interest in new crop options will, in a great measure, nullify the effect of crop scares.

The "Guardian."

MANCHESTER, Feb. 3.—The Guardian in its commercial article says: The demand during the week was feeble and the signs of depression were more manifest, though prices were rarely lower. The dullness was most pronounced in gray staples, especially in India and China shirtings. There is little hope of securing business owing to the inadequate inquiries in merchants hands. There have been fair inquiries for miscellaneous light fabrics resulting in a few sales. The sales of printing cloths and light and heavy goods have been quiet. Yarns are dull. The weakness in cotton checks the demand, and the sales are below the productions.

Cotton.

The local market was lower and quiet at 1-16c decline. Sales 53 bales.

New Orleans spots were easy, 1-16c lower. Futures opened steady, 5 to 7 points lower than yesterday's closing, declined 2 to 3 points and closed at 2:15 quiet and steady at the lowest point of the day.

Special Market Letter.

Private Wire to J. P. Grier.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—In wheat the early influences were bearish. Some cables attributed the cause for the continental weakness to large farmers' deliveries there and that whatever was going forward was on old freight contracts that had to be used. Some heavy selling, supposed to be in the interest of a large outside short in an attempt to put the price below 88c, was unsuccessful, however, as there were good buying orders in the market on a scale down and the close was but little below opening price. Some cables were steady, others lower and some higher, leaving a fair supposition that the markets were not panicky, and we think with the buying of to-day in Chicago more favorable, would reflect strength in all markets.

Corn was freely sold by a receiving house, but was firm during most of the session and we think should be bought on breaks.

Provisions were easy and were sold by packers and longs who were liquidating. The close was easy.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow's wheat, 160 cars; corn, 175 cars; oats, 170 cars.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Wheat—Receipts, 56,250; sales, 1,540,000; fairly active; ¼@⅜c lower on weak cables; Feb., 99⅝c@$1.00; March, $1.00½@1.00⅝; April, $1.00⅜@1.01; May, 99⅛@99⅝c; June, 97⅛@98⅛c; July, 96⅛@96⅝c. Rye quiet, weak; Western, 90@93c. Corn—Receipts, 91,400 bu; sales, 455,000 firm; ⅛@⅜c up, quiet; No. 2, 49@50⅛c; steamer mixed, 48@49⅛c. Oats—Receipts, 97,300 bu; sales, none; No. 2 dull, firm; Western, 34½@42c. Beef—Quiet, steady; extra mess, $9@10; family, $11@12c. Pork—Quiet, steady; mess, $9.75@10.75; extra prime, $9.50. Lard—Easy, quiet; steam rendered, 6.72½c. Butter—Quiet, steady; receipts, 7,900 pkgs; Western diary, 18@23c; Elgins, 32@⅛c; Western creamery, 22@32½c; imitation do, 18@26c; rolls, 17@21c. Eggs—Firm, quiet; receipts, 2,700 pkgs; Western, 27½c. Sugar—Raw, dull, easy; fair refining, 3c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3⅜c; refined, steady, quiet; crushed, 5@5¼c; powdered, 4⅛@4½c; granulated, 4@4½c. Spirits turpentine, quiet, easy, 33@35⅛c. Molasses, dull, steady; New Orleans common to fancy, 28@38c. Tallow dull and easy; city 4⅝@4⅞c. Coffee—Contracts opened weak and 20 to 35 points lower. There was some pressure to sell on European account, which broke the market, and the weakness was added to the failure of foreign markets to respond sufficiently to our advance of yesterday. Havre was steady at ⅛@⅜ franc advance and Hamburg was ¼ pfennig up. Receipts at Brazilian ports were 11,000 bags. Rio firm, fair demand; No. 7 on spot, 14⅛@14⅛c.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 3.—Wheat opened weak and lower this morning. Liverpool was ½@1d off and the London cargo market was quoted 6d lower; receipts were large and the crowd was bearish, with Schwartz-Dupee the leading sellers. There was, however, some very good buying, including a considerable amount taken by shorts on the break, but it seemed to have no effect toward hardening the market until Bradstreet's report of the available stocks in the country was posted, showing a decrease of 1,036,000 bu, of which 638,000 bu were east of the Rocky Mountains. This caused a little firmness. May opened ⅜c lower at 88⅛c, weakened to 88⅛c, rallied to 88⅞c, broke to 88⅛c, the lowest point yet reached on the present crop, rallied to 88⅞c and at 10:45 a. m. stood at 88⅝@⅞c. Corn was firm and higher, in spite of the weakness in wheat. The demand for the near-by futures continued good on account of the persistent poor quality of current receipts, leading to fears of a scarcity of the contract grade. The receipts to-day were liberal, but none of them graded contract. Feb., which closed yesterday at 40⅛c, opened at 40⅛c, sold at 40⅛c, and at 10:45 o'clock was quoted at 40⅛c. May was ⅛c up. The receipts of hogs were lighter than had been expected, and prices were firm, but local speculators in provisions were tired and their offerings, together with the weakness in the wheat market, caused a decline in prices. May pork opened unchanged at $11.90, touched $11.92½, broke to $11.80, and sold on the call at $11.80@11.82½.

10:45 a. m.—Wheat—Feb., 89⅛c; May, 88⅝@⅞c. Corn—Feb., 40⅛c; May, 41⅛c. Oats—Feb. nominal. May, 30⅞c. Pork—Feb., no sales; May, $11.80@82½. Lard—Feb., no sales; May, 6.57½@6.60c. Short ribs—Feb., no sales; May, 5.97½@6.00c.

1:15 p. m.—Wheat steady; cash, 84⅛; March, 86⅛c; May, 88⅛c. Corn easier; cash, 39⅛c; Feb., 40c; March, 40⅛c; May, 41⅛c. Oats steady; cash, 28⅛c; Feb., 28⅛c; May, 30⅛c. Pork steady; cash, $11.45@11.47½; May, $11.75. Lard steady; cash, 6.35c; May, 6.57½@60c. Short ribs steady; cash, 5.65c; May, 5.92½@95c. Rye quiet at 77⅛c. Barley nominal at 56@59c. Sheep—The market is still characterized by light receipts, steady prices and an active demand, which the lack of supplies does not permit to be supplied.

Hogs—There was some improvement to-day in the quality of hogs and the market regained a trifle more than the loss that was felt in the decline of a dime in yesterday's business. The arrivals were moderate, business more active than yesterday and values 10c to 15c higher. Good to choice grades ranged in to-day's prices at anywhere from $4.40 to $4.65, whereas yesterday it was hard to get up to $4.40. Fair to good quality sold at from $4 to $4.35 and the common mixed to fair grades at $3.50 to $4. Anything of a less grade was pigs, etc. The close was steady at the advance, and the representative sales were as follows:

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3, 11 a. m.—In the stock market this morning, Western Union and Distillers still monopolized a very large share of the attention and for the first half hour contributed nearly one-half of the business done. The former was strong, however, while the latter was feverish and unsettled, while the strength in the general list remained unimpaired from yesterday. The opening was fairly steady, but Distillers was down 1 per cent at 51⅛ and further retired to 51. It rallied to 52, but sank back to the opening figure and remained in that neighborhood. Western Union, on the contrary, was very strong and opening up ⅛ at 87⅛ further advanced to 88⅛. Special strength was also seen in Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan, which rose 1⅛ per cent to 27⅛, while the leading stocks among the usually active list rose from ⅛ to ⅛ per cent. New England was a marked exception to this rule, dropping back to 48, against 49⅛ last evening. St. Paul, Atchison, Union Pacific, New England were active, the rest were quiet and remained without special feature. Heavy pressure was brought upon the list in the later trading, however, and the whole market yielded, wiping out a portion of the early advances, while Chicago Gas dropped away quickly from 77⅛ to 76. The market at 11 o'clock was active and still rather heavy, but generally at something better than first prices.

Noon.—The stock market was less animated in all its departments after 11 o'clock, but the weakness disappeared with the withdrawal of the pressure and fractional recovery occurred right through the list. Chicago Gas, after selling down to 75⅛, recovered to 76, and Missouri Pacific, Atchison and New England all displayed considerable recuperative power. Later, however, prices again reacted, and, while no movement of importance took place, the market at noon was quiet and heavy at generally insignificant changes from first prices.

Money.

The regular bank rate of interest on time loans may be said to be 6 per cent, but the banks have such a surplus of money that they no doubt would all be glad to make loans at that rate. While banks say are not doing any business at a lower rate, there is no doubt that outsiders are making call loans at 5½ per cent. The accumulation of funds still goes steadily on and Eastern banks are worrying considerably to know what to do with funds. While this is hardly the case here, all the banks are comfortably full.

The stock market in London is quiet and steady.

New York, 9 a. m.—The January earnings of the Rock Island came out last evening, and the increase was $195,000. J. Pierpont Morgan is talking very bullish on the stock market. Several conservative commission houses generally bullish told their clients last night that they could see nothing in yesterday's market but manipulation, and that the bull deal in Western Union was one of this sort. It was known at the Windsor last night that the directors of the Whisky Trust had declined to accept the resignation of the President, and also that a resolution had been adopted to make lower prices for the product if necessary to drive out opposition and suspend dividends, too, until business had recovered, if necessary.

9 a. m.—The Wabash seconds are regarded by some good judges as among the cheapest bonds on the list, taking the price and security into account. The yield is over 6 per cent. A gentleman thoroughly posted on Texas Pacific matters says there will be no interest paid on the seconds March 1. Mr. Gould owns $2,000,000 of the incomes. There will be no change in the management.

10 a. m.—The stockholders say there is no basis of truth in the statement that Western Union will declare an extra dividend, but it is a good property and will ultimately sell at par.

WANTED FOR FORGERY.

Samuel S. Johnson Arrested in St. Louis for a Chicago Offense.

Samuel S. Johnson, a man with numerous aliases, was arrested Monday night by Detective Lawler, and last night Detective Elliott of Chicago took him back, where he is wanted for one of the most novel forgeries perpetrated in this country. It is charged that Johnson is one of an organized gang of ten who have swindled the members of the Chicago Stock Exchange out of sums amounting to $40,000. Eight of the men have been captured by the Chicago police and have all been indicted by the Grand Jury. Their names are James Beach, J. S. Henderson, Chas. McQuota, Frank Albright, Albert Evans, Henry Hubert, Calvin Moore and T. J. Hanner. Johnson was traced to this city and was working as a laborer on Fifteenth and Olive streets, where he was arrested. The gang's methods were unique and daring and their discovery breaks up a dangerous gang. Their plan was to seek some fine property, obtain the name of the owner, then the value, and finally a copy of the title. This they would recopy and change to suit themselves. They would then go to a notary, make an affidavit, and when the papers had been drawn up repair to the Stock Exchange, where it is comparatively easy to obtain a large loan on the apparently clear title. The plan worked well, but at last they were run down in an attempt to pull off too large a plum. They secured a fraudulent title to a large West side estate, and on the strength of it attempted to negotiate a loan of $10,000. This large amount induced the speculators to investigate, and becoming suspicious reported the matter to the police. The crooks heard of this and fled. A telegram from Chicago says that Johnson was the leader of the gang.

A Young Girl Ruined.

Yesterday a warrant was sworn against Joseph O'Toole, charging him with criminal assault. Little 18-year-old Mamie Grimes told her sad story to Prosecuting Attorney Estep. She is a handsome girl and very well developed for her age. She says that she had met O'Toole several times after school. He was good-looking and well dressed. She became infatuated with him. Last Friday he persuaded her to take a walk and leading her to a wine-room, induced her to drink. She was not accustomed to liquor and soon lost her senses. When she awoke she claims she found herself in a room in the Favorite lodging-house. She realized her position, but was frightened into silence by the threats of O'Toole. In this place she was found by the officers.

The penalty for the crime with which O'Toole is charged is, according to the statutes of this State, hanging or imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than five years. Shortly after the warrant was issued O'Toole's father and brother called, but was told that the offense charged was not bailable. They claimed that the girl had previously been arrested for wild behavior.

The account of ball tickets was read by Mrs. Rainwater. Votes of thanks were tendered to Maj. Bannerman, Capt. Barlowe, Mrs. Cassidy, Mrs. Gen. Bowen, Mrs. Rainwater, Col. E. The Symphony Concert.

When Adele Aus der Ohe is to play, the symphony concerts of the Choral-Symphony Society are sure of a large audience. It was so last night in Music Hall. The dress circle and parquet were filled, and there were no vacant seats in those parts of the balcony affected by the musicians who have studied the acoustic proportions of the hall. Prof. Otten's orchestra was in good form, and went through an excellent programme in an excellent manner. Miss Aus der Ohe played a concerto for the piano by Schumann, and the Rhapsodie Hongroise of Liszt, under whose painstaking teaching she acquired her wonderful skill.

MENACE TO LIFE.

The Ungarded Railroad Crossing and Its Dangers.

A CITY ORDINANCE WHICH HAS BECOME A DEAD LETTER.

How the Railroads Have Fought Every Measure Which the City Has Proposed to Secure Greater Safety—The Poplar Street Crossing—Ungarded Crossings in the Mill Creek Valley.

Upon the reorganization of the city government after the adoption of the Scheme and Charter the Municipal Assembly passed several ordinances for the better protection of the public at railway crossings. One of these bills provided for the erection of bars as safeguards at the crossings. It was a Council bill introduced by Moses Fraley, and no objection was made to it in either house. The necessity of such protection was recognized by all the members, and even the railroad companies tacitly consented to the passage of the bill. It received Mayor Overstolz's signature and became a law. In compliance with this ordinance, bars were put up at all the crossings on the Poplar street track, and at all of the tracks in the Mill Creek Valley as far west as Theresa avenue, as also at the most dangerous crossings along the river front north and south. This ordinance has never been repealed, and should be among the revised ordinances published in 1887, but an investigation of the volume made yesterday by Secretary Little of the Council and several other gentlemen failed to find it. Nor could it be found in the volume published in 1881, which contained all the ordinances compiled under the revision of that year. The police authorities look to the revised ordinances as published for their instructions as to the enforcement of the law, and if an ordinance is omitted from the revision no effort is made to enforce it. This ordinance, which was passed some fourteen or fifteen years ago is now a dead letter law, and has been for a long time. In fact, it has been forgotten by a good many people who read of it at the time, and even the police seem to have forgotten its existence.

WOLFINGER'S TEST.

Previous to the erection of bars at the down-town crossings, accidents at them were of almost daily occurrence, and particularly on Poplar street. Public sentiment against the Poplar street track became so strong that an ordinance was passed limiting travel over the street to certain hours of the night, and imposing other restrictions on it, and when this ordinance was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the State, another one was introduced prohibiting the use of steam as a motor power on the street. It was argued that the cars could be hauled over the track by horses, and the late John A. Wolfinger, a member of the House of Delegates at that time, offered to prove it. The offer was accepted by the railroad company and the test was made one afternoon in the presence of the Mayor and other city officials and a big crowd generally. Six of Wolfinger's horses were hitched to a Pullman car on the levee and some thirty or forty people then got aboard to make the load as heavy as the car would be upon arriving in the city filled with passengers. The horses reached the top of the hill, but it was hard work for them, and very slow work, too, and as a result of the test, the bill was defeated in the Assembly. The interest of the public continued to be watched and cared for, however, as much as ever by the Assembly, and when the Jefferson avenue bridge was projected, the railroad companies were compelled, much against their will, to lower their tracks several feet for the bridge. One of the companies tried to ditch an engine where the city was building a pier, to stop work on the bridge, but the gods favored the city in the fight and derailed the locomotive at another place, where it proved no obstruction whatever to the bridge workers. When the Eighteenth street bridge was projected a compromise was effected, the Missouri Pacific and Wabash roads agreeing to contribute handsomely toward the cost of building the bridge if they were not compelled to lower their tracks. A high grade bridge was built, but the railroad companies failed to make good their promise and the city had to pay the entire cost of the structure, including the long approach at the north end made doubly expensive by the elevation of the bridge proper. The Missouri Pacific also tried to escape paying back the money which St. Louis County loaned the company for the construction of its road before the war, or rather the money which the company realized on bonds issued by the county for the benefit of the road on condition that the company redeem them at maturity. The matter was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, and under a decision of that court the Missouri Pacific was forced to turn over $700,000 to the city, which had succeeded the county as the owner of the claim.

Almost everything which the city has obtained from the railroad companies it has had to fight for and generally in the courts, and in the way of affording protection to the public on their tracks, the companies have done absolutely nothing except what has been forced from them, and they will do nothing more until the Municipal Assembly takes action again and passes ordinances requiring all railroad crossings in the city to be protected with gates or bars.

UNGUARDED CROSSINGS.

In the Mill Creek Valley are a number of very dangerous crossings that are not now so protected. Many of them in fact have no watchmen, and at some crossings, as at Sarah street, the watchmen are kept on duty only during the day time. Perhaps the most dangerous crossing in the city at present is the one at Theresa avenue. There are nearly a score of tracks there and they are used by seven different roads. The through passenger trains of the Iron Mountain run over them, as do both freight and passenger trains of the Missouri Pacific, 'Frisco, Oak Hill, Colorado and Keokuk & Northwestern roads and most of the passenger trains of the Wabash. Then there is a great deal of switching done in this part of the city and during portions of the day trains are crossing Theresa avenue constantly, every two or three minutes, in fact. There are several large warehouses and manufactories in the vicinity and the wagon traffic is enormous during the day. Only one watchman is stationed there and he is supposed to keep a look out for all trains on the twenty or more tracks spread out over the valley which at this point is nearly 1,000 feet wide. There is no lookout house at the crossing, and the old watchman stationed there has to do his watching on the roadway with his view often wholly or partially obstructed by a passing train. If he is on one side of the valley and sees a train coming on a track at the other side, it is ten to one that he would not get there in time to warn an approaching wagon or carriage on Theresa avenue. There are no bars or gates that he can let down or close, and it seems almost miraculous that this crossing has not had more accidents than it has. Theresa avenue is the first street east of Grand, and Cabanne street, the next crossing west of Grand avenue, is protected no better. There is a day watchman here who is relieved by a night watchman in the evening, but the crossing has no gate. Further west, with two or three exceptions, none of the crossings have either gates or watchmen.

WEST OF GRAND AVENUE.

The roads diverge soon after passing under the Grand avenue bridge. The Wabash passes under a bridge at Vandeventer avenue and the Manchester road, and also at King's highway, and the Frisco passes under a bridge at Chouteau avenue. The Missouri Pacific crosses Chouteau avenue on the level, but the crossing here has both a day and a night watchman and also bars, and the same may be said of the crossing at Tower Grove. At King's highway the Missouri Pacific and Frisco roads have bars and day watchmen, but no watchmen at night. The Macleland avenue crossing, like Sarah street, only a day watchman and no bars. The Oak Hill road is entirely within the city limits, but its road crossings are in no way protected after it leaves Tower Grove until it reaches the lower end of Carondelet. The other roads running out of the Mill Creek Valley have each from five to ten crossings that are without even day watchmen and not one of these crossings is provided with a gate as contemplated by the Fraley ordinance. East of Theresa avenue the crossings in the Mill Creek Valley all have watchmen and gates.

PROFIT SHARING.

A National Association Organized to Extend the Scheme.

An association for the promotion of profit sharing has recently been formed in New York City. The United States Labor Commissioner, Carroll D. Wright, is President, the two Vice-Presidents being President F. A. Walker of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Mr. N. O. Nelson of St. Louis. The Secretary and Treasurer is Nicholas P. Gilman of West Newton, Mass., author of a work on profit sharing. The Executive Committee consists of a railroad director, four manufacturers, who, like Mr. Nelson, practice the system in their business, and a professor of political economy in a Pennsylvania college. The association thus brings together men of science and men of business, who desire the extension of profit-sharing and kindred systems of uniting the interests of employers and employes. It is their intention to establish a bureau of information for the benefit of firms interested in profit sharing, and by various publications and addresses before commercial and other clubs to promote the discussion and extension of this industrial reform.

When fished out Heman was found to be quite seriously injured, sustaining several severe bruises, and it is thought internally injured. He was removed to his residence, 2606 Thomas street.

Suit Against Bill Clark.

Carl B. Swain, on a change of venue, brought suit yesterday in Justice Spaulding's court to recover $250 damages from Bill Clark for injuries received in the Natatorium. The plaintiff alleges that he sustained serious injuries, caused by a platform falling upon him while attending the walking match.

TRACK TALK.

Gen. James F. Robinson, the well known Kentucky turfman, is dying at his home in Lexington.

Starter Pettingill, who has acquired considerable reputation by his work with the flag at the Gloucester race course, has been succeeded by the Chicago Garfield Park management. He will succeed Jack P. Chinn, who will continue with the East St. Louis Jockey Club.

Jockey J. Bergin, a brother of the famous "Marty" and who is under contract to ride for Brewer Jacob Ruppert next season, at a salary of $4,000, rode at Guttenburg yesterday in defiance of the Board of Control's order. This will result in his suspension from the tracks controlled by the board.

Starter Caldwell failed to show up at his usual post at Guttenburg yesterday. The famous drum tapper is suffering with a severe attack of pneumonia. He has been granted a vacation and will leave for the South shortly to try and regain his health. During his absence Manager J. C. Carr will do the starting at the track.

Stonewall, who finished third in the second race at East Side yesterday, is the property of J. Mullally, who purchased the horse at an auction sale at South Side Park two months ago for $25. Stonewall was a sorry looking plug the day he was sold, and it was the prevailing impression that the animal's days as a race horse were past. His work yesterday proves how badly mistaken even the knowing ones can be sometimes.

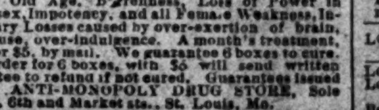

The racing proceeded yesterday at Guttenburg minus the usual police interference, and this is taken as rather confirming the prevailing impression that a truce has been patched up between the Big Four and the opponents of winter racing. The result, it is expected, will be the passing of a pool bill in the New Jersey Legislature which will permit the opening of Monmouth Park next summer.

The riding of Jockey Riley, on Jubilee, the favorite in the fourth event, the big handicap at East side yesterday, caused considerable unfavorable comment. Judge Carter declared all bets on the event off and ruled Riley off the course pending an investigation, which is now in progress. Jubilee is the property of J. Cochran, who was ruled off South Side the closing day of the meeting at that course. Riley claims that he was riding according to orders.

Dead Sea Fruit.

They slay multitudes when they are the product of neglect of incipient disease. A "slight" cold, a fit of indigestion, biliousness or constipation each or any of these "minor ailments" advance in many cases with "league-destroying strides." Give them a swift, early defeat with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and avert the danger. Abernethy administered an alarming rebuke to the man who informed him that he had "only a cold?" "Only a cold," repeated the doctor. "What would ye have—the plague!" Rheumatism and la grippe are easily extinguishable at the start. Why then allow them to get up a full head of steam? Put on the brakes with the Bitters. The genial warmth which this superb medicine diffuses through the system, the impetus it gives to the circulation of the blood, its soothing and strengthening effect upon the nervous, specially recommend it to the enfeebled and sick. 'Tis the great specific for malaria.
